FAVORS BIG INCOME

Insurance Concerns Must Re-Insure Half Their Risks in Government Monopoly, Under Plan.

PARIS, May 12.—Finance Minister Caillaux announced today that the Dawes plan annuities that were to be used for the reconstruction of the devastated regions and for the amortization of inter-allied debts under some form to be determined later.

Caillaux made the statement to the finance committee of the chamber in outlining his financial plans. The tax on salaries above 25,000 francs annually would be heavily increased, Caillaux told the committee.

Tobacco prices will be increased and insurance companies will be obliged to re-insure half of their risks with the new Government monopoly instead of patronizing foreign companies.

Caillaux declared that 2,500,000,000 francs must be raised to balance the 1938 budget, and he added that France must be prepared to make heavy sacrifices, which he hoped would be only momentary.

Will Try to Solve Question.
The Finance Minister informed the committee that he had evolved a plan for the rehabilitation of French money and for the refunding of the domestic debt, but would not go into details or even consider doing so as long as France was not certain of having a fully balanced budget, and as long as the problem of inter-allied debts, which the Government is going to try to solve, has not been settled.

Caillaux said that among the receipts shown by the 1935 budget were 1,140,000,000 francs from the Dawes plan, but, owing to the heavy proportion of deliveries in kind, only a small proportion in cash was received by the French Treasury.

The first effort of the Government, Caillaux declared, would be the immediate and final liquidation of war damages through loan annuities, which were guaranteed by the payments expected from Germany.

Caillaux gave the French internal debt as 150,000,000,000 francs and consolidated loan at 100,000,000,000. Short term paper increased, he said, but fraud will be eliminated.

CAILLAUX WANTS
THREE-POWER MEET-ING ON WAR DEBTS

By ARNO BOSCH FLEUROT,
Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, May 12.—A conference with Great Britain, the United States and possibly Italy represented, is Minister Caillaux's plan to reach an understanding. As soon as the budget is presented, he said, he will be intimate to the American Ambassador Herrick, and presumably to the British.

The "reminder" which Herrick made him verbally last week during the return from Washington about the "reminder" may force him to talk debts sooner than he intended.

Herrick's own way of expressing the reminder was that "the United States has reminded us of our debt." The reminder call was on Wednesday, Caillaux took the question and said that he was not going to meet him, saying the question would not be raised fast enough to suit him.

To meet the American objection associating debts and reparations, Caillaux is willing to camouflage the connection; but this does not mean any the least that the plan to pay reparations over to Great Britain and the United States. France may put the reparations in one pocket and pay war debts from the other; but the sum involved in the final settlement will, according to Caillaux's reasoning, inevitably be about what Germany owes, or France will be driven to liquidate again.

ALLIED POWERS TO OMIT USUAL CONGRATULATIONS TO VON HINDENBURG

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 12.—The French, British, Italian and Belgian Governments have decided to omit the usual formal congratulations to a newly elected chief of state in the case of Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Germany's President, in view of the fact that his name is still on the list of those charged with war crimes.

The four Powers, it is stated, simply will forward a brief acknowledgment when notified of his assumption of the presidency.

Negro Says Her Neighbor's Sprinkling of Powder on Door Blighted Marital Life.

"She sprinkled voodoo powder on my door and it brought evil between me and my husband." This explanation Mrs. Laura Therrell, 36 years old, a negro, gave to the police as the basis of her quarrel with her next-door neighbor, Mrs. Ella Hunt, 36, also a negro, at 204 Valentine street.

"I swept it up and swept it, but each time it was there I had bad luck with my husband," she continued. Yesterday afternoon the two women met on their common porch. They quarreled. The Therrell woman says her neighbor told her if she didn't like the "voodoo powder" she could move, and then made a threat and started to run inside. There was a revolver in her trunk, the Therrell woman said, and she ran inside, obtained it and met her neighbor on the porch a moment later. There were shots, and when the police arrived the Hunt woman was dead from wounds in the chest and abdomen. Mrs. Therrell was arrested.

PRESIDENT SMOKES CHEROOTS

NEW YORK, May 12.—President Coolidge smokes 10-cent cheroots, preferring them to expensive cigars. Coolidge is a close friend of the President, made the disclosure last night at a meeting of the Ohio Society.

Hilles related that a friend of the President, noting the cheroots, had sent him a box of expensive cigars. Two weeks later the friend called at the White House and, offered a cigar, observed that the box was the same as he had presented to the President, and only three cigars were out of it. The President explained by telling a story of Jim Jackson of Northampton at a church social. Offered a large plate of strawberry ice cream, Jim said: "I won't have any, thank you. I am afraid it might spoil my taste for prunes."

The Commercial-Appeal today announced that the fund for the benefit of the negro hero, which was started yesterday, had reached $210.25. Including among the contributors listed were business concerns and organizations.

A glance at the classified "Automobiles" columns of the Post-Dispatch today will reveal many attractive Used Car Week offerings.

Often the most liberal terms, and a lot of extra equipment paid for by the former owner, make it the dealer's wisdom to see the dealer at once.

Then, too, there is no war tax to pay on a new used car.

CROWD CHANTS

Manifesto, Says "I Greet

Pride."

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, May 12.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg was inaugurated President of Germany today. Except for a brief shout of approval from the communists, the inauguration was carried out according to schedule, the Field Marshal being sworn into office by Paul Loebe, president of the Reichstag, before a crowded house. The oath taken by the President was as follows:

"In the name of the almighty, all-knowing God, I swear to devote all my energies to the welfare of the German people, to increase their prosperity, to protect them from injury, to preserve the constitution and laws of the commonwealth, to perform my duties conscientiously and to deal justly with all."

To this he added the religious affirmation "So help me God," thereby setting a new precedent for German Presidents.

Allied Diplomats Present.
The inauguration took place in the presence of the members of the Reichstag, whose Socialist members wore red carnations. Many of the other Republican members wore the Republican colors.

The entire diplomatic corps, headed by Monsignor Pacelli, the papal nuncio, and including Lord Aberdeen, British Ambassador; M. de Margerie, French Ambassador, and the American charge d'affaires, also was present, and the galleries were packed.

Even Gen. Ludendorff, war companion of Von Hindenburg, in charge of Germany's military affairs, was in his place at a Reichstag member—the first time he has been present since the new Reichstag assembled.

Steps Decorated With Flowers.
At the door of the Reichstag building, Von Hindenburg was greeted by the Vice Presidents and the administrative director, who conducted him to the waiting Bier Loebke. The marble steps leading to the chamber were decorated with deep blue hydrangeas, the new President's favorite flower, with laurel trees on either side.

At noon, Von Hindenburg, accompanied by Loebe entered the Chamber, which was bare of decorations except around the President's table. Behind the President's chair hung a huge tapestry bearing the German coat-of-arms, which was incased in laurel wreaths interwoven with the Republican colors of black, red and gold.

The President's table, at which Von Hindenburg stood, while being sworn into office, was covered with a large Republican flag and was flanked on either side by hydrangeas.

Herr Loebe addressed the Field Marshal briefly, expressing the hope that during his administration the economic reconstruction of Germany which had begun under President Ebert would be continued as well as the policy of mutual understanding in the formulae that had been successfully initiated, so that the terrible consequences of the war gradually would be removed.

Von Hindenburg's Speech.
The following is the text of President Von Hindenburg's speech: "Accept my sincere thanks for your words of greeting on behalf of the representatives of the German people on the occasion of my taking the oath of office as Reich President, in accordance with the Republican Constitution of Aug. 11, 1919.

"The Reichstag and the Reich President belong together, for both are chosen by the German people. Both derive their authority from this common source and together they represent the sovereignty of the people, upon which our entire constitutional existence is founded. This is the deeper significance of the Constitution to which I have

Taxi Driver Says He Hauled

Morning Train.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAWRENCE, Kan., May 12.—Further information to the effect that "Toddy" Dillon left here for St. Louis on April 29, the day before his father was murdered there, has been gathered from two sources.

The presence of young Dillon here on April 29 was established by Abe Wolfson, clothing and loan shop proprietor, who told yesterday of selling the young man a .38-caliber revolver between 9 and 10 a. m. that day.

Two witnesses have been found who say Dillon left Lawrence the morning of April 29.

David Cummings, a driver for the Yellow Cab Co., when questioned last night, recalled he had driven Dillon from the boarding house at 1319 Tennessee street, where he roomed, to take the 10:23 o'clock Union Pacific train for Kansas City. Cummings said he knew the youth personally, as he had driven him several times. Records of the taxi company confirm this call.

Dillon, on the trip to Kansas City questioned the conductor as to the connections he could make in Kansas City for St. Louis, according to Fred B. Cowels of Indianapolis, president of a fraternal alumni association, who was on the train.

Cowels also remembered seeing Dillon arrive at the Lawrence station in the Yellow Cab and has identified a picture of Dillon. Cowels is in Lawrence aiding the Kansas University chapter of his fraternity to raise funds for a new home.

Mrs. E. L. Garrett, at whose boarding house Dillon lived here, said Dillon had not slept in his room since April 27 or 28, but that he may have returned there Wednesday morning, April 29. He frequently stayed away from home at night she said, and returned at various times throughout the day.

AS HIS OWN LAWYER

John C. McPhail Meets Defeat
This Time When Wife Is Granted Divorce.

Twice has John C. McPhail of 4625 Pinney avenue, a dry goods merchant, come to court without a lawyer to try his own case, himself, and twice has McPhail lost. Yesterday was the second time the lawyer met defeat.

The first time, his wife, Mrs. Frances McPhail, of 4544 Athlone avenue won the right to $2000 worth of Treasury Certificates which they had saved jointly. Yesterday Mrs. McPhail again defeated her husband, this time winning a divorce with $10 a week alimony.

"Lawyers are useless creatures," McPhail has said, and almost as if to rub it in Circuit Judge Kearney yesterday ordered him to pay his wife's attorney $75 additional fees. To this McPhail objected strenuously, saying, "I don't mind the alimony, but I shouldn't be made to pay the lawyer. I don't like lawyers."

In her petition for divorce Mrs. McPhail alleged that her husband deserted her in 1923 and refused to contribute to her support. They were married in 1927 and separated Aug. 18, 1932.

McPhail, acting as his own attorney, questioned his wife's witnesses and took the stand himself, making a statement to the court.

REFUSES TO TESTIFY

HARDWARE MAN NOT CERTAIN
YOUTH BOUGHT CARTRIDGES

Mrs. Dillon Faints While Waiting to Be Called as Witness—"They Found the Doctor's Body," Maid Says Former Declared
When Told of Murder.

Edward George Dillon, 19 years old, was identified today by Abe Wolfson, loan shop proprietor of Lawrence, Kan., as the young man to whom Wolfson sold a .38-caliber revolver the morning of April 29, the day before the youth's father, Dr. William A. Dillon, was killed by a .38-caliber bullet on Francis Field, Washington University.

Wolfson saw young Dillon at the reopened inquest into the Dillon murder, held at Coroner Bopp's undertaking establishment in Kirkwood. At the same time, W. R. Green, Lawrence hardware dealer, who sold .38-caliber cartridges to a young man on April 29, saw Dillon, and said he had seen him before, but could not say whether he was the buyer of the cartridges.

Wolfson and Green arrived in St. Louis today in company with a Post-Dispatch reporter. Young Dillon, called as the first witness in the inquest, refused to testify, on the ground that he might incriminate himself. This was anticipated, from his persistent refusal, since his arrest last Friday, to say where he was at the time of the murder, or to answer any question as to possession of a weapon.

The young man's mother, Mrs. Anna H. Dillon, fainted while sitting in an automobile outside the station on the morning of April 29, the day before the murder. She was taken to the home of Mayor Cunningham of University City, at 6328 Washington avenue, where a physician said she would require eight or ten hours of absolute rest. Young Dillon's lawyers told the Coroner that Mrs. Dillon would appear at the hearing as soon as she is able to.

Young Dillon, called by the Coroner when the inquest opened, shortly before 11 a. m. was asked his name, address and occupation, and replied, "Edward Dillon, 726 Heman avenue." His mother's address in University City. As his occupation, he said, "Student," and Coroner Bopp asked, "Where?"

Thomas B. Harvey, one of Dillon's counsel, rose and said: "This young man has been locked up, suspected of murder, and his counsel have advised him to stand on his constitutional rights, and not to testify."

Prosecuting Attorney Mueller then asked Dillon: "Do you refuse to answer on the ground that you suspect you might make might tend to incriminate you?"

"Yes," Dillon replied, and he was excused.

Poses for Photographers.
Young Dillon had arrived at the scene of the inquest an hour and a half before, coming in a friend's sport model automobile, and being accompanied by his mother, Dr. Dillon's divorced wife.

School children and persons engaged in business on the quiet suburban street lined the sidewalk as Dillon stepped out to the curb. He was wearing a brown tweed suit and a similar top coat, with a green cap. His lawyers were awaiting him, and at their suggestion, following the request of newspaper photographers, Dillon posed for several pictures, putting his hat on and taking it off, and turning as the photographers directed.

"That's enough, Toddy," said his mother, addressing him by his nickname, after two poses. "Let's get a good one," he replied, and several more views were taken.

The second witness, Miss Clara Geringer, maid in the home of Mrs. Dillon, testified she did not see the son there on April 29-30. She was there all day April 29, but the next day, Thursday, was her "furnace off" day and she departed about 8 p. m., after preparing lunch for herself. She was "not sure" whether Mrs. Dillon was home or absent when she left, but she was certain she had not prepared lunch for Mrs. Dillon.

"Was Mrs. Dillon home the night of April 30?" asked the Coroner.

"I don't know—I was out—but she slept there that night," the witness replied.

"How do you know she did?"

"Well, she was in bed the next morning."

"Was anyone else at the house on April 30?"

"Not that I know of."

How Mrs. Dillon Heard of Murder.
Asked to tell how Mrs. Dillon was informed of Dillon's death, Miss Geringer said:

"The phone rang on the morning of Friday, May 1, while I was working in the living room, and Mrs. Dillon answered. Then she

AT PARTY AT NIGHT OF MURDER

Physician Left Egyptian Four Others in Closed Divorced Wife Did Not See Him.

Years ago, and wearing a black and white and gray and white gown and large picture hat. The woman was shorter and heavier and of dark complexion.

Mrs. Becker fixed the time in this way: She and other students left Benton College in an automobile at the usual hour the school closed, 5:30 p. m., and she judged it was shortly after 10 o'clock when they reached the Egyptian Building. About 11 p. m. one of the women in her party looked at her watch and suggested departing. After one more dance Mrs. Becker and her friends left.

Entered Closed Automobile. Dr. Dillon and his party had gone out just ahead of them, Mrs. Becker said, and the physician and those with him entered a closed automobile.

Witnesses have told of seeing an automobile at the Pennsylvania avenue gate of Francis Field, the intersection of Delmar boulevard, shortly after 11 p. m., but differed as to whether it was a Dodge touring car or a Chevrolet or Star roadster. They told of seeing men with this car but no women.

Preponderance of statements as to the time shots were fired in the vicinity of Francis Field and men with an automobile were seen at the open Pennsylvania avenue gate of the field the night of April 28, fixes the time as shortly after 11 p. m. Some statements place the time shots were heard as shortly after 10 p. m. The statements were rechecked yesterday and Sunday by Post-Dispatch reporters, city detectives and county authorities, the police were convinced thereby that the time was shortly after 11 p. m. because of the preponderance of statements and the assurance with which one of the business men making a statement spoke.

If the murder was committed after 11 p. m., at Francis Field, as it is assumed, there would have been time for a person to go from there to Union Station and take either one of two trains for Kansas City, the Alton-Burlington at 11:55 p. m. or the Missouri Pacific at 12:30 a. m. Arriving on one of these at Kansas City the morning of May 1, when Dr. Dillon's body was found, it would have been possible to reach Lawrence, Kan., by any of several ways by the time at which Edward G. Dillon, the slain physician's son, reached his boarding house there. Young Dillon was refused because he had steadfastly refused to disclose his whereabouts on the night his father was murdered.

INCORPORATION PERMIT ISSUED FOR LAUREL HILL CEMETERY

Promoters of Project on St. Charles Road Will Be Required to Pay Tax on Unsold Lots.

A pro forma decree of incorporation was issued to the Laurel Hill Cemetery Association, which has a cemetery site on St. Charles road, west of Ferguson avenue, by Circuit Judge Wurdeman at Clayton yesterday, in spite of opposition of residents of the neighborhood.

There are numerous cemeteries in this vicinity and the residents argued that they wanted no more. Cemetery lots are tax-exempt. Most of the cemeteries are in the Normandy Consolidated School District, which suffers financially by their presence.

The judge said that the Laurel Hill Cemetery promoters would have to pay taxes on unsold lots. A proclamation calling for local observance of National Hospital day, today, the 105th anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, was issued by Mayor Miller today.

He requests that visits be made to disabled war veterans at the Veterans' Hospital at Jefferson Barracks, and elsewhere. At Veterans' Hospital 92, a wheel chair parade of wounded veterans will be held at 2 p. m. today.

EX-PRINCE AND REPUBLICANS Frederick William Agrees With Visitors in Some of Their Views.

OELS, Germany, May 12.—Former Crown Prince Frederick William evidently does not share the antipathy of Monarchists and Nationalists toward the Republic. On the occasion of the recent German-Austrian demonstration in Oels, the Republic banner was freely displayed. One group of Reichsbanner men, in making a tour of the grounds of the castle of Oels, came upon the ex-Crown Prince, who chatted pleasantly and invited him to view his home. The visitors did not hesitate to tell Frederick William their opinion of the shortcomings of the former and the merits of the present German Government. And in a number of instances, they said later, the ex-Crown Prince was prepared to agree with them.

DAVIS JURY IS COMPLETED Ex-Governor of Kansas to Go to Trial on Charge of Seeking Bribe.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 12.—The jury that will try Jonathan M. Davis, former Governor of Kansas, on charges of seeking a bribe, was completed and sworn in today. The jury includes a truck gardener, three farmers, a secretary of a laundry company, two railway clerks, automobile mechanic, a postoffice employee, locomotive engineer and livestock dealer. Judge McClure ruled that evidence relating to acts and declarations of Russell Davis, son of the former Governor, was competent only as showing light on the defendant's intent. Testimony bringing out collateral facts must "go definitely to Gov. Davis himself, and not to any third parties," Judge McClure said.

GEN. MANGIN, HERO OF VERDUN AND ALLIED DRIVE, DIES

Succumbs to Uraemia With Which He Was Stricken Suddenly in Paris Yesterday.

LED RECAPTURE OF FORT DOUAUMONT

In 1918 He Carried Out the Great Counter-Offensive Against the German Right Wing.

PARIS, May 12.—Gen. Charles Mangin, French hero of Verdun, died today. He was stricken suddenly with uraemia, possibly complicated by appendicitis. His condition was so serious that an operation was out of the question.

Charles Marie Emmanuel Mangin, born at Sarrebourg on July 6, 1866, was one of the military leaders with a lifelong training as a soldier who proved a bulwark of strength for France in repelling the German invasion during the World War.

His subaltern days were spent in active service in Senegal and the French Sudan, and he saw service later in China, West Africa and Morocco.

Shortly after the outbreak of the World War, he was placed in command of the Fifth Infantry Division and later of the Eleventh Army Corps. His temporary rank of General was made permanent just before his brilliant attack at Verdun in October, 1916, which resulted in the recapture from the Germans of Fort Douaumont.

Later he became involved in a bitter controversy which followed the costly victory on the Aisne in the spring of 1917 and was deprived of his command of the Sixth army.

A commission of inquiry, however, exonerated him from blame and he was reinstated by Clemenceau. In July, 1918, in conjunction with Gen. De Goutte, he carried out the great counter-offensive against the German right flank which brought the first of the final series of allied successes.

After the war he was made a member of the Superior War Council and was decorated with the grand cross of the Legion of Honor.

He was one of those who favored the creation of a buffer state between France and Germany along the Rhine.

U. S. AUTOS RUSHED TO BRITAIN Increase in Shipments Due to Threat to Restore Tariff.

LONDON, May 12.—American-made automobiles are being shipped to Great Britain at the rate of a thousand a day, as a result of Chancellor Churchill's threat to advance the date for the imposition of the McKenna duties, which place a tax of 33 1-3 per cent on foreign cars or parts, retroactive. The Baldwin government's budget, which reimposed protective measures for the British automobile industry, fixed July 1 as the date for the tax to become effective, but the Cabinet has become alarmed because of the unprecedented dumping of automobiles in all British ports. It is understood in British circles, although not yet announced to the general public, that the reimposed duty of 33 1-3 per cent will become effective in June.

NEW POLICE FORCE FOR HERRIN None of Men Who Went Through Factional Strife Retained.

HERRIN, Ill., May 12.—When Mayor C. E. Anderson retired as Mayor of Herrin last night, he handed to the new Mayor, Marshall McCormack, one of the famous tin stars used during the period of S. Glenn Young's activity in Herrin in February, 1924.

When Constable Caesar Cagle was killed the Klux Klan took control with Young as dictator. He installed new policemen so rapidly that stars were actually cut from tin cans as emblems of authority. It was one of these stars that Anderson turned over to his successor, with the statement that there were "399 more for you to get." The new Mayor last night selected George Griffith as Chief of Police and an entire new force. No member of the force which went through the months of factional strife is retained. A new Fire Department also was chosen.

SPECIAL CONVENTION OF MINERS IS CALLED

Factional Difficulties to Be Threshed Out in Springfield Subdistrict.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 12.—Calls for a special convention of the Springfield sub-district, Illinois mine workers, to act on recent difficulties between officers of the district and Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, were sent to all locals in the district today.

Farrington recently deposed Freeman Thompson, president of the subdistrict, because of alleged irregularities in his election. This action resulted in a dual government for the subdistrict, Thompson and his administration refusing to recognize John A. Walker, Farrington's appointee.

Both actions maintained offices and both attempted to govern the subdistrict. Troubles between the Springfield subdistrict and administrative forces of the district and international go back to the fight over the expulsion of Alexander Howat, leader of the Kansas miners.

At the last international convention, Tom Parry, vice president of the Springfield subdistrict and John Walker, secretary of the district, with Freeman Thompson, who deposed to organize a rump convention to reinstate Howat, Parry and Watt signed today's call for a subdistrict convention, which is being held in Springfield June 5.

MAN, GRIEVING FOR DEAD WIFE, BURNS HIMSELF TO DEATH

Tragedy on Highway Eight Miles South of Belleville Witnessed From a Distance by Farmer.

VICTIM SPRAYED SELF WITH GASOLINE

Body Identified as That of Paul Mueller of St. Louis—Had Driven There in Auto.

The road that runs by Stephen Handrich's farm, about eight miles south of Belleville, was the scene of tragedy yesterday afternoon.

About 3 o'clock, Handrich, who was plowing in an adjacent field, observed a Ford roadster draw up at the roadside. The man driver emerged and began tinkering with the machine. The farmer observed at a distance that the man appeared to be siphoning gasoline from the tank. About an hour later, Handrich was startled by screams, and, running to the roadside, he observed the man, in flames, writhing in agony.

Effort to Save Man Fails. Two truck drivers, who came along, aided Handrich in a futile effort to beat out the flames. Apparently the man, after divesting himself of coat, vest and shirt, had saturated his clothing with gasoline and then ignited it. He was burned from head to foot and died in a few minutes.

The discarded clothing was found on the seat of the roadster, together with a picture of a woman, on the back of which was written: "There was nothing wrong in my life with you. I will be in death with you." A watch and $57 in currency lay beside the picture.

The body was removed to an undertaker's in Belleville, where identity was established, through tracing the Missouri motor license number of the roadster, as that of Paul Mueller, about 48 years old, 1415 North Thirteenth street, St. Louis.

Identified by Nephew. Identification was made by Ralph Mitchell, a nephew, who related that the picture found in the automobile was that of Mueller's wife, who died about two months ago. Since then, he said, Mueller has been despondent. He had given up his work as a metal polisher and house cleaner, and yesterday he had departed in his automobile, after saying he was going to Indiana on a visit.

SAYS MAN BEAT HIM WHEN HE WROTE WARNING ABOUT CELERY

Benjamin T. Way, 74, Had Told in Letter to Son of Poison Spray Used in Florida.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, May 12.—Benjamin T. Way, 74 years old, father of Nelson ("Pie") Way, former Yale and Giants' pitcher, last night told how he was kidnapped from Sanford, Fla., a town of 7500 population, taken into the woods and lashed into unconsciousness less than a month ago.

His back and legs still bear the marks of a beating which he thinks was inflicted with palm-leaf switches. Friends said only his wonderful health enabled him to sustain the beating. Way, an insurance man of Lacombe, N. H., with seven children and 27 grand children, told the New York World that he was kidnapped because he had written a letter to his son, Nelson, in New York, advising him not to eat Florida celery. Poisons used in spraying the celery to kill worms made it unsafe, the letter said.

"Someone stole the letter before I mailed it," said Way. "The four who beat me said if the letter became public in New York it would ruin their business. Sanford alone ships more than a million and a half crates of celery a season, and some of it was condemned by the Government because of the spray used."

The wells on Way were examined by Charles Evans Hughes Jr., Allen S. Hubbard and Walter F. Carter, the latter once a pitcher for the Giants and close friend of Way. In writing to P. P. Forester, president of the First National Bank at Sanford, to ask if the town countenances such an act, Carter said: "A more horrible sight I never want to see."

Forester, in his reply, condemned "the outrage," but declared that Way "must have been equally guilty to cause men to commit such an act."

HIS HOBBY IS ROBBING FREIGHT TRAIN CREWS

Highwayman Who Has Perpetrated Five Such Holdups Sought Here.

Something new in banditry, police say, is the holding up and robbing of the crews of five freight trains near St. Louis since March 24 by a robber who is being sought here and in East St. Louis.

At 12:15 a. m. March 25, a Missouri Pacific freight train No. 63, from Jefferson City, neared the Stupp Steel Mills at Weber road, St. Louis County, the robber hopped down from the tender into the cab. He ordered Fireman J. A. Young of 6812 Balsam avenue to step over to the engineer's side, and took a watch and $1.60 from him and $1 from the engineer, E. J. Harnack, of 3137 Lafayette avenue.

"Shall I shut her down?" Harnack asked. "No, keep her moving," replied the robber, as he scrambled back over the tender. A few minutes later he appeared in the "doghouse" on the caboose and took watches and change from the braking crew.

His latest "haul" was May 5, when he held up a Clover Leaf freight between Sillmore and Bismarck, Ill. On April 18 he held up a Chicago & Eastern Illinois freight. He held up two Nickel Plate freight trains on April 25 and May 4. Each time he took watches and a small amount of money from the crew. His speech indicated to trainmen that he was a former railroad man.

Two vacancies on the commission will now have to be filled as a successor must be named by William S. Culbertson, who recently was appointed Minister to Rumania.

STILL AND MASH FOUND IN ATTIC OF RESIDENCE

Police Raid Home at 3043
Semple Avenue After Receiving Letter Saying
There Was Liquor There.

It took a ladder to reach the attic of the residence of Roy Thurston, 3043 Semple avenue, when the police made a liquor raid there yesterday afternoon. Somebody had written the police that there was liquor in the house. Detectives Taylor and Schneider visited the place and smelled a suspicious odor coming from the attic, but the top floor was locked and Thurston said he didn't have the key; that he had rented the floor to Rudy Krack of 13 North Sarah street and did not know what Krack was using it for.

Detective Taylor found a ladder, which he hoisted against an attic window. Peeping in he saw a still. Leaving his companion to watch the place, he sent for Capt. Hanna and other policemen to augment the guard, then obtained a search warrant.

Find Still and Mash.

The officers didn't want to break the attic door down, so they climbed the ladder and removed the window. They reported finding inside a 50-gallon still and three 200-gallon hogheads of fermenting mash. They poured the mash out of the window. Later they arrested Krack at his home and reported that he admitted renting the attic. Thurston, too, was arrested. A policeman trying back door of Meramec street stores last midnight found one in the butcher shop at No. 3203 unlocked. Suspecting burglars were at work, he drew his revolver and flashlight and slipped in. No burglars awaited him, but he found in a basement room, he reported, two barrels containing 50 gallons of whiskey, 17 quarts of whiskey in various kinds of bottles, five cases of home brew, a quart of gin and some coloring fluid. The patrolman called another policeman and together they destroyed most of the liquor, then went to the home of the butcher, Arthur H. Haake, 4124 A. Oregon avenue, and arrested him.

Last evening policemen called on Carl Osbar at his home, 2250 South Jefferson avenue, and arrested him upon finding in the basement 634 pints of beer, resembling home-brew, which Osbar told them was for his own use.

Other Liquor and Gambling Raids.

Nave Pellegrino, 28 years old, was arrested on the back porch of his home, 4214 Clifton avenue, when he was found to have a pint flask of white whiskey in his pocket, and Salvatore De Chio, 24, of the same address, was arrested on the street nearby when found to have a similarly filled flask.

Seeking to determine whether the establishment at 1728 Olive street was a cigar store or a hand-book, a Sergeant raided it yesterday and seized what he said was all the loose property found there—"a few boxes of cigars, containing a few cigars, two pieces of chewing tobacco, a tin box, an alarm clock and a lot of old racing forms. The clerk, Kenneth Stoberg, of 2431 North Spring avenue, was arrested. Form sheets have been found in the place in the past.

Eleven men were arrested in a raid on a cigar store at 319 North Grand boulevard, near Olive street, in a search for racehorse gambling.

In all, 140 persons were arrested yesterday and last night as suspects and in liquor and gambling raids. Whiskey was reported found in raids on 12 saloons.

COURT CUTS $177 OFF PATIENT'S ROLL

Holds Doctor's Bill of $400 for Successful Operation Is Not Exorbitant.

Dr. Frank L. Davis, surgeon, based R. M. Pringle of the Hamilton Hotel in Justice of the Peace Moore's court yesterday for the purpose of amputating $177 from Mr. Pringle's bank account. The operation was successful.

The $177 represented the remainder of a bill which Dr. Davis said Pringle owed him for an operation he had performed on Pringle's daughter in 1922 and the accrued interest—the bill being $180 and the interest the remaining $27. Pringle, who already had paid $250 of the $400 bill, contended that $400 was entirely too much for the removal of one appendix, so he wouldn't pay it, and that is how he got himself and the doctor into court.

According to the testimony, Miss Mary Pringle was stricken in 1922 by an appendicitis. So Dr. Davis was called in and he immediately operated. A few days later Pringle presented the doctor with a check for $100. Two weeks later Pringle gave Dr. Davis another $100. And three months later Pringle sent Davis $50 more, accompanied by a letter which the surgeon said accused him of being a highbinder and extortionist for asking $400 for one operation.

Destroyed Letter.
"The letter was so vicious," Davis testified, "I was called so many things in it that I destroyed it. I didn't want to die and have someone find a letter like that in my desk. Nor did the letter say that if I accepted the $50, Mr. Pringle would consider the bill closed, as he now asserts he wrote."

Dr. Davis, in reply to the question of Preston Quick, his attorney declared he charged patients according to what they could pay. He said he did 40 per cent of his work for nothing.

"But, Dr. Davis," inquired Frederick Wind, who represented Pringle, "isn't it true that surgeons often cut out an appendix that really doesn't need cutting out?"

About this time it looked as though there was an excellent opportunity for the battle to turn from the legal to the physical. Dr. Davis' eyes flashed.

"I'll not have you," the doctor exclaimed, "I'll not have anybody like you accuse me of anything like that. I'm a doctor who practices in this city for 10 years. I taught at Washington University, and there is no one who can say anything like that about me. Ethical physicians don't do such things."

Judgment for Doctor.
Justice Moore then informed Attorney Wind that he knew lawyers who weren't as ethical as they might be, but that didn't mean all of them were unethical.

Which brought Pringle to the stand. Pringle denied that he was worth $100,000. He said $25,000 was nearer the figure. But the Court said he didn't believe Dr. Davis' fee was exorbitant and that if his daughter had appendicitis, he would give his whole $25,000 for it if necessary.

So, said the Judge, "I give a judgment for Dr. Davis."

'INADEQUATE' ARMY FORCE IN HAWAII HELD UNAVOIDABLE
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, May 12.—Despite the results of the recent war game, demonstrating "inequality" of the army forces in Hawaii, War Department officials have indicated it would not be possible to increase the garrison there with the regular army at its present strength.

In fact, it was declared, it is not possible now to maintain any overseas garrisons at the strength they should have, or to carry out fully all the peace-time missions of the army in the United States.

Deficiency of the fire-control systems of the army in Hawaii and of communications there is laid to failure of Congress to provide appropriations sought by the army. Congress has authorized an expense for deepening and straightening the Pearl Harbor channel so that the largest battleship may enter, but the money has never been appropriated.

With the beginning of deliveries late this year of new army observation planes of long-range scouting types, War Department officials expect to consider the question of giving priority to the Hawaiian and other overseas stations in bringing air-service equipment up to date.

The maneuvers just concluded in Hawaiian waters demonstrated so clearly the need of long-range air scouts that officers are satisfied, even before receiving the report of Major-General Hines, chief of staff, and one of the two chief umpires, that the situation must be corrected at the earliest possible moment.

DRY FORCES GAIN ON LAND AND SEA

$100,000 Worth of Liquor
Seized in New York—Rum Row Blockade Holds.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 12.—Victories on land and sea have been recorded by the Government in the war against the rum traffic. The land victory was one of the most important in months, involving the discovery of a whisky distilling plant on the lower West Side and the seizure of $100,000 worth of synthetic rye whisky. At sea, the victory consisted in the continued success of the dry navy's blockade of "rum row" under the most difficult conditions. The seventh day of the blockade yesterday was one of dense, swirling fog. It was just this kind of weather that dry navy commanders feared most, as it would permit the rum runners their best opportunity of running the blockade. But the Government men declared that victory was with them—that, so far as they knew, not a bit of liquor had trickled into the country from "rum row."

New Additions to "Rum Row."
The liquor smugglers evidently anticipated an attempt at blockade running for a number of the whisky carriers were found to have weighed anchor and stood in closer to shore, but the Government men insist the shore-to-boat runners did not materialize. Two new ships, a steamer and a schooner, joined the beleaguered rum boats during the night, the dry sailors reported. "Impassable Blockade" by Coast Guard Off Virginia Capes.

By the Associated Press.
NORFOLK, Va., May 12.—Twenty-six "coast guard vessels" are maintaining an "impassable blockade" off the Virginia Capes to prevent the entrance of any liquor ships into Virginia waters, officials announce.

UNITY OF GERMAN PEOPLE HIS TASK, SAYS HINDENBURG

Just pledged my word as a man. But whereas the Reichstag is the place where opposing views and political convictions clash in partisan conflict, the Reich president's duty should be dedicated to the non-partisan task of uniting and co-ordinating the nation's constructive and progressive elements for the common welfare of our people, without regard for party consideration.

"I therefore on this occasion desire to make a renewed and emphatic expression of my determination to devote myself to attaining this end. Its accomplishment will materially be facilitated if this honorable body will renounce partisan ambitions for personal and party advantages and devote its deliberations to the faithful and successful consideration of the interests of our sorely tried people. I confidently hope and expect that this noble competition in the faithful fulfillment of duty will give us a common basis for mutual confidence and co-operation."

The ceremony concluded with President Loeb calling for three cheers for the German republic. These the Deputies gave enthusiastically, rising from their seats. Crowd Chants National Hymn.

Every feature of the inauguration program was carried out smoothly. The brief ceremony of swearing in the President before the Reichstag was impressive. After the conclusion of the program in the Reichstag, President Hindenburg left the chamber, accompanied by all the cabinet ministers. Then in the presence of a large crowd outside the Reichstag building, he took a salute from a regiment of reichswehr, while the crowd chanted "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

After reviewing the regiment of reichswehr, President von Hindenburg re-entered his motor car and accompanied by Chancellor Luther rode to the executive mansion between two squadrons of cavalry. The streets were lined with thousands of cheering persons as the new executive drove by.

When the President arrived at the German "white house" he was received by a crowd of several thousand and again the "Deutschland Ueber Alles" was struck up.

Manifesto to Army.
President von Hindenburg after his inauguration issued a manifesto to the army and navy. In it he said: "To the Wehrmacht (defensive power). The German people have placed me at the head of the Reich. According to the Constitution I take over this day the chief command of the Wehrmacht. I greet the army and navy with pride."

"From my seclusion in Hanover," continued the President, "I have watched the development of the Wehrmacht. Straight ahead and undeterred it has led the German people on the only road upon which reconstruction was possible, namely through hard discipline and loyalty in every detail to accomplishment and success."

"It is built upon the old principle of duty and sacrifice. Its activity is intended for the present and the future for the service of the people and the State, true to its symbol and the tasks imposed by the Constitution."

"With unwavering faith they rely upon the German Wehrmacht in my work for the Fatherland's peace and prosperity."

President von Hindenburg, speaking at the dinner given in his honor by Chancellor Luther last night, expressed his deep satisfaction over the welcome accorded him by Berlin's population.

These attractive pattern floors bring new beauty to your home

Home decorators find happy inspiration in the new pattern floors created by Armstrong's. See the latest designs this week in St. Louis.

TRULY, a happy note in floor beauty was struck when Armstrong developed these new and better floors of linoleum.

These new floors are unbroken by splintering cracks, by careless seams. Instead, they are smoothly and firmly cemented in place over a heavy lining of builders' deadening felt, then waxed and polished until the rich colors and designs glow and glimmer softly.

They never need refinishing. They are springy, easy to clean, sanitary. They should last a lifetime.

Hundreds of beautiful patterns for every decorative need

Today in old homes as well as new, sombre floors of wood are being replaced by these newer, brighter floors of Armstrong's Linoleum. And no wonder! There are colors and designs for every type of home, for every kind of room—soft, rippling Jaspés in two-toned grays, blues, grays, and browns; smartly colorful over designs; bolder Handcraft tiles and natural marble effects—hundreds of patterns created by Armstrong's expert designers to meet every decorative need.

Don't fail to see these new floors the next time you are shopping

See with your own eyes the new pattern floors that interior decorators and architects are adopting for really modern homes—the floors that make possible the new trend toward color and design in floors.

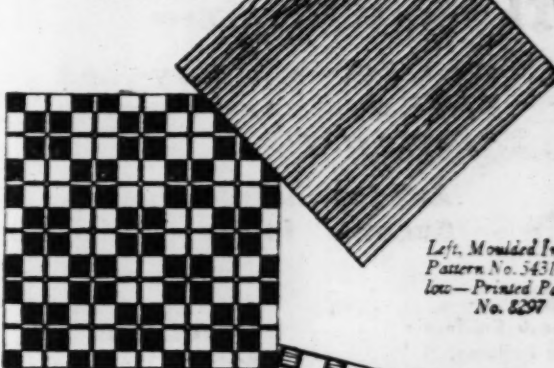

The latest designs are now showing at all the good department and furniture stores in town. You will also see many new and equally attractive patterns in Armstrong's Printed Linoleum.

The patterns will delight you—the moderate cost of an Armstrong Floor surprise you.

Armstrong's Brown Jaspé Linoleum plays a big part in making attractive this living-room of Mr. R. A. S. Johnson of Glenwood, Illinois. Notice particularly how this pattern floor serves as a pleasing background for the pretty rug.

ATTORNEYS FOR IGOE TO SEEK AGREEMENT

Will Confer With Miller's Counsel on Manner of Opening Boxes for Ballot Recount.

Attorneys representing William L. Igoe in his contest of the election of Mayor Miller will seek this week to agree with attorneys for the Mayor upon the manner of opening the ballot boxes and re-counting votes while the preliminary phases of court action are getting under way. Democrats will ask that the contest be assigned to a courtroom for early hearing.

The preliminary objective of Igoe's supporters is a recount of the ballots to determine how many votes, under Election Board instructions, were counted for Mayor Miller in instances where a cross was placed in the circle at the head of the Republican ticket, Miller's name scratched and Igoe's written in. The board so instructed election officials because an opinion by former Attorney-General Barrett held the ballot could not be scratched or interlined except in specified instances.

The contest petition alleges that a recount giving credit to the intent of the voter instead of penalizing him for failure to technically comply with the law, will show Igoe to have been elected by 333 votes instead of defeated by 3123, as shown by the official count.

An assignment of the case will bring it into one of the two equity divisions of the Circuit Court, before either Judge Miller, Democrat, or Judge Falkenhainer, Republican.

GAME WARDEN WOUNDED BY OLD 'UNLOADED' SHOTGUN
E. J. Steiner of Highland Shot
When Friend Smashes Piece Against Tree.

Edwin J. Steiner of Highland, Ill., State Game Warden for Madison County, is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital at that place, suffering from serious gunshot wounds accidentally inflicted by a friend, Orville Bardill.

Bardill, who is a son of former State Senator Jos. G. Bardill, is in a state of nervous collapse because of the accident.

The two were members of a party which spent the week-end fishing at a club house on Shoal Creek. Hunting and trap shooting were occasionally indulged in at the club and an old shotgun had been left at the place so long that it had become rusty and unfit for use.

Bardill decided to put it out of commission by breaking it against a tree. No one had suspected that it was loaded, but when it was dashed against the tree it exploded and the shot struck Steiner in the throat. He was rushed to the hospital in an automobile and on Monday blood transfusion was resorted to. He is 27 years old and lives with his mother, Mrs. Mary Steiner, Railway Revenue Freight Loading.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Railroads loaded more revenue freight during the week ended May 2 than in any week this year, reports filed by the carriers today with the American Railway Association showing a total of $81,711 cars. This figure exceeds the total for the preceding week by 22,486 cars and that for the corresponding week last year by 65,161 cars.

INDEPENDENTS START WAR ON FILM COMBINE

Would Force Lasky-Goldwyn-National Group to Give Up Theaters.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 12.—Declaring themselves in a fight for survival, independent producers and theater owners last night took the first formal step in a move to compel the "Big Three Combine" of film makers—Famous Players-Lasky, Metro-Goldwyn and First National—to cease purchasing new theaters and to give up those they already have.

Into the plan, too, was injected a proposal to select some dictator for the independent group, who shall "out-Hays" Will Hays. A number of independent producers and exchange men allied themselves with the independent producers and distributors' association, headed by I. E. Chadwick of the producing organization that bears his name and decided to form an alliance with theater owners "for absolute protection from the monopolistic tactics of the combine."

Group conferences to iron out various suggestions were held far into the night, and the formal plan is to be presented at the motion picture theater owners' convention beginning today.

Under the plan, the theater men are going to limit their film rentals to the independents as far as possible to tell the so-called trust producers that they must "get out of the exhibition end."

The suggestion that the independents select a super-Hays came with the arrival of W. A. Steffes of Minneapolis, head of the rebel group of motion picture theater owners in the Northwest. Steffes said that his "rebels" were ready to pitch in and fight side by side with the organization.

CITY REPLIES TO FIREMEN'S PAY SUIT

Ordinance Providing for $25 a Month Increase Invalid, Attorneys Argue.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 12.—Attorneys for the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of St.
Louis, replying yesterday to the mandamus proceedings brought in the Supreme Court by city firemen to compel the city to include the firemen's salary increase in the budget for the ensuing fiscal year, hold that the ordinance providing for the increase is invalid.
The increase from $155 to $180 monthly was voted at the last municipal election, April 7.
City Counselor Senti and Conway Elder, attorneys for the city, assert in the answer that the ordinance, providing for the increase was not first approved by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment as provided by the Charter, and that it therefore is not binding.
It is pointed out that the estimated revenues of the city for the fiscal year, which began April 14 last, will be $18,885,000. The $800,- 000 police salary increase is mentioned with the statement that to appropriate for use of the city de-pay the salaries of all employees authorized by ordinances in addition to statutory regulations for payment of principal and interest in the city's debt, would necessitate an appropriation far in excess of the city's estimated revenue.
It is said that reductions in the number of employees and curtain-ments in allotments to departments has been necessary. The court took no action.

FRENCH CABINET APPROVES TWO NOTES TO GERMANY

One Lays Down Conditions for Withdrawal From Cologne Area —Another Discusses Security.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 12.—The French Cabinet today unanimously approved Foreign Minister Briand's two notes, one replying to the German offer of a security pact and the other laying down the requirements for German disarmament before Cologne shall be evacuated.
The disarmament note, which will be submitted to the allies, is proposed as the text the Allied Council of Ambassadors should send to Germany as a long-deferred summons to disarm in compliance with the treaty of Versailles. Its terms have not been made public, but it is known to be a compromise between the French and British views.

The British are said to have conceded that the date of the Cologne evacuation should remain unfixed, but be dependent upon the manner in which the Germans observe the disarmament requirements.
The French agreed to limit the requirements to the principal items of the report submitted by the international military control mission, passing over the numerous smaller violations of the treaty provisions in this respect.

GUNNAR KASSON COMPLAINS Northland Musher Charges Movie Contract Has Been Broken.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Gunnar Kasson, Northland musher who leaped into the limelight and a movie contract through his sensational dash to Nome, with anti-diphtheria serum, has found little fame and no fortune since coming to Los Angeles with Balto, the rest of his dogs, he relates in a complaint filed with the State Labor Department here. Kasson alleges he was lured to Los Angeles by Sol Lesser, operator of a string of motion picture theaters, with an offer of $500 a week for him and his dogs, the contract to run 10 weeks. So far, he says, he has received but $667.99, and as a result finds himself without even transportation money back to Alaska.
A hearing has been called for Friday, at which Lesser will be asked to explain. Meanwhile, at his Los Angeles office, the information was given out that "Kasson has been fully compensated for his services with us to date. He simply pulled out and left us flat after four weeks' work."

ESTATE TAX ON INSURANCE

U. S. Supreme Court Holds 1918
Revenue Act Not Retroactive.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 12.—Proceeds from life insurance policies in which the rights to the benefits passed to or were vested in final beneficiaries prior to the enactment of the revenue act of 1918 are not subject to the Federal estate tax, the Supreme Court declared in deciding an appeal by the Government against the executors of the estate of Henry C. Frick.

Your Health
is affected by wrong hygienic habits

This NEW way in solving woman's oldest hygienic problem will mean much to you

SIXTY per cent of many women's disorders, doctors now point out, are often traceable to wrong hygienic methods.
Now there is a new way . . .
a way that supplants the dangers and uncertainties of the old-time sanitary pad.
Physicians urge it. Women's doctors have adopted it. Hygienic authorities employ it.
And your own peace of mind demands it. For it offers charm and immaculacy under any and all circumstances.
The name is Kotex . . . a method scientifically right.
It absorbs 5 times the moisture of the ordinary cotton pad. And that means great protection.
It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—that ends an old-time embarrassment.
It is deodorized. And that prevents danger of offense.
You can get it at any drug or department store, just by saying "Kotex." And that banishes the embarrassment of asking for a "sanitary pad."
Eight in every ten women in the better walks of life have adopted it. Which proves its benefits.
It will mean much to you in health, in daintiness and protection. It proves old ways a needless folly.

KOTEX
DEODORIZED

1 Protection: 5 times as absorbs 15 times its own weight in moisture—and scientifically deodorized.
2 No laundry. Discard as easily as a piece of tissue.
3 Easy to buy, anywhere.
You ask for them by name.
Many stores keep them ready-wrapped—help yourself, pay the clerk, that is all.

GARBAGE SUIT UP TO THE SUPREME COURT

Jefferson Distributing Co.
Seeks Writ of Prohibition Against Judge Huck.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—

An application for a writ of prohibition was filed in Supreme Court today by attorneys for the Jefferson Distributing Co. of St. Louis, seeking to prevent Circuit Judge Huck of St. Genevieve County from proceeding further with an injunction restraining the company from dumping its garbage on Hog Island in the Mississippi River. The Jefferson company has held the contract for disposing of St. Louis garbage.

Judge Huck last Saturday issued a temporary injunction against the company and other defendants, restraining them from dumping any more garbage on Hog Island near St. Genevieve County. The injunction was returnable on May 23, when a hearing will be held to determine whether the temporary injunction will be made permanent.

The Supreme Court has taken no action on the application for a writ of prohibition, but notified Judge Huck to take no further steps in the injunction case until the Supreme Court disposes of the application. The injunction proceeding, instituted by Prosecuting Attorney Petrucci of St. Genevieve County, was directed against Samuel and Gustave Baumgarten, operating as the Jefferson Distributing Co., and Thomas Faudree, Frank Heckman, Henry McNew and Earl McNew, said to be interested as bidders on garbage contracts now pending before the Board of Public Service.

Petrucci alleged in the injunction petition that the Jefferson company was dumping some of the garbage in the river, instead of taking it to the island to be fed to hogs, and that garbage allowed to decompose on the island constituted a nuisance. Hog Island, although in the Mississippi River, is within the territorial boundaries of St. Genevieve County, it was said. In applying for a writ of prohibition Charles Houts, attorney for the defendants in the injunction proceeding, contended the Circuit Court was without jurisdiction and that the injunction was granted without advance notice to the defendants. He asserted the practice of dumping garbage at the island had been followed several years, without previous interference, and that nearby country was so sparsely populated that any odors from the garbage would affect but few persons.

HOG ISLAND GARBAGE INJUNCTION SET ASIDE

President Kinsey of Board of Public Service Notified of Action by State Supreme Court.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service today was notified by telegram from the Clerk of the Missouri Supreme Court that that body had halted a proceeding begun by the Prosecuting Attorney at St. Louis municipal garbage at Hog Island. A temporary restraining order issued by Judge Huck at St. Genevieve enjoining the Jefferson Distributing Co., which has the municipal garbage contract, from hog feeding at Hog Island, was abated by the higher court, the telegram informed, until the Supreme Court can go into the question.

The action of the St. Genevieve authorities was related to the Board of Public Service in a telegram received yesterday from the Prosecuting Attorney. The city is now collecting about $28 a ton of garbage daily, and if the restraining order had been allowed to stand, the city would have had a problem on its hands.

Pending litigation over the proposed five-year garbage contract, the city is continuing its old contract with the Jefferson Distributing Co.

NEGRO SLAIN, ANOTHER SHOT

Witnesses Say Man They Knew as "Yewel Jones" Fired Into Crowd.

Lee Smith, 23 years old, a negro, 3227 Morgan street, died at City Hospital early today from bullet wounds in the side and arm, suffered at 10 p. m. Sunday in front of that address. Mack Neal, negro, residing at the same address, also was wounded. He was removed to the hospital in a serious condition.

The men told policemen they and several other negroes were standing in front of the Morgan street home when a negro they knew only as "Yewel Jones" came up and without provocation drew a revolver and fired into the crowd, wounding Smith and Neal. "Jones" escaped.

Your Afternoons at Leisure

You can prepare your supper early in the day, heat it in the cooker for a short time, then turn off the current and leave it. The cooker continues the cooking and supper is ready when you want it.

Here's how it works

These are just a few examples:

ROAST BEEF

Turn the current on for 1 hour —then turn it off

ROAST PORK

Turn the current on for 1 1/4 hours —then turn it off

IRISH STEW

Turn the current on for 1 hour —then turn it off

SMOTHERED CHICKEN

Turn the current on for 1 hour —then turn it off

A HAM

Turn the current on for 1 hour —then turn it off

CUP CUSTARD

Turn the current on for 30 min. —then turn it off

CAKE (Plain)

Turn the current on for 35 min. —then turn it off

Although foods may be done long before you are ready to serve them, leaving them in the cooker will not harm them. On the contrary, their flavor and freshness will be preserved. We have an expert at our store to show it to you.

ABSENCE OF STATES WITNESS DELAYS TRIAL

G. E. Cornwell's Failure to Appear Causes Judge to Suggest Grand Jury Inquiry.

Failure of George E. Cornwell, 1809 Clemens avenue, to appear as prosecuting witness yesterday when the cases of four men charged with robbing money from him were called in Circuit Judge Itner's court, caused Judge Itner to suggest a grand jury investigation of his absence.

"From reports brought to me by the Circuit Attorney's office, Cornwell is in Florida, and apparently does not intend to return to St. Louis to prosecute these cases," Judge Itner said. "There is certainly something wrong when a young man of wealth whose home is in St. Louis has left the city and has not indicated whether he intends to return to appear as a witness against the defendants."

The defendants, charged with first-degree robbery, are Barth Schuler, Frank Lehman, Robert Chablon and Charles Castleberry. Cornwell's absence forced a continuance of their cases. A fifth, James Wilkerson, was tried and acquitted Nov. 20 last. A sixth, Herbert A. Miller, appeared as a State's witness at the Wilkerson trial.

Miller testified he and the other defendants had conspired to extort money from prosperous-looking young men by threatening "morality squad arrests." One evening last July, he testified, he lured Cornwell to Forest Park and accused him of a wrongful act because Cashion and Castleberry were State's officers. Miller said Cornwell gave them a $300 check to be let loose.

Cornwell, who is 25 years old and the son of F. J. Cornwell, a real estate dealer, testified as to his chance acquaintance with Miller and their visit to Forest Park. He said the men, who posed as "morality officers" threatened to blow up his father's house unless he gave them $300 "bond." The arrests followed a complaint to police by Cornwell's brother, Frederick J. Cornwell Jr., who said he learned of the matter when at attempt was made to extort an additional $200.

MR MAIL PILOT MADE FIVE FORCED LANDINGS IN NIGHT

For Eld Beacons So He "Taxied" Until He Tired of Jumping Nebraska Penes.

By the Associated Press.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 12.—Elding's hero of the overland mail has a counterpart in Pilot Frank A. Yager of the Air Mail Service. The overland "mail rider's" plane, according to post, was all cluttered with many varieties of impossible obstacles which had to be cleared, but Yager's troubles loomed up in the form of barbed wire fences.

Leaving Omaha with a cargo of mail, Yager soon ran into a dense fog, he reported on arrival at the air mail field here yesterday. The fog was so dense he was unable to see either the little blinkers or the 100,000-candies barbed wire fences that were supposed to light his way. He made a forced landing at once in a small field in Western Nebraska. A short time the fog lifted and he took off again, only to be forced down a second time in the space of a few minutes.

Yager made five forced landings in this manner in the course of 100 miles, he reported here, the fifth being at Archer, Wyo. There, determined to get ahead in spite of the fog, he decided to "taxi" his way across the wide open spaces. But even the wide open spaces have occasional fences and the air mail pilot began to encounter them. He hopped the first three or four in the darkness but on hurdling the seventh he began to tire of it. He waited for the first streak of dawn and then took the air for a change. He followed the Union Pacific Railroad tracks to Cheyenne, arriving here at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Calles Plot Laid to Rest.

MEXICO CITY, May 12.—The matter is expressed in some official circles that exiled Mexican politicians in the United States influenced Maria Luisa Jauregui, the mentally changed woman who was sent to the asylum recently, upon her admission there, to plan to assassinate President Calles. At the time of her arrest the police declared she had no accomplices, but these circles action is seen behind her efforts to reach the President and the meeting early this month of a revolutionary junta at Phoenix, Ariz., where it is alleged the statement was made that the party in Mexico City would kill Calles. Senora Jauregui was captured at the national stadium carrying a bouquet in which a revolver was concealed.

BRITISH MINISTER
EVASIVE ABOUT
MEMORANDUM

Chamberlain Declines to Say Whether Report of Secret Document on Security Was Accurate.

HECKLING BEGUN
BY MacDONALD

Opinion in London Is That Chamberlain Wrote Memorandum Discussing New Triple Alliance.

By JOHN L. BALDWIN, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright, 1936, by the Press and Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, May 12.—The publication in the New York World and the Post-Dispatch of the text of the Foreign Office memorandum on British policy and European security last Sunday created a diplomatic sensation when recalled from America and published here, and caused a debate in the House of Commons.

Efforts were made by the Foreign Office and by Foreign Secretary Chamberlain yesterday to minimize the importance of the disclosure by the allegation that the memorandum was released from another American paper of two months ago.

Former Premier Ramsay MacDonald, in the crowded House, yesterday asked Secretary Chamberlain a "private notice question," which is only permitted on matters which the Speaker rules of urgent importance. He asked Chamberlain "whether his attention had been called to the memorandum published in an American journal, purporting to be written by him and to give officially an outline of British policy in Europe, and whether he had any statement to make."

Refuses Information. "This memorandum appears to be a copy of a document referred to in an American newspaper two months ago," Chamberlain said. "It is not in the public interest that I should give any information as to what memoranda we prepare in the Foreign Office, which are prepared by or for the Foreign Secretary for official use. The policy of the British Government, as I explained it in this House on March 24 on my return from Geneva, remains unchanged by any subsequent events."

"May we take it that in so far as this statement is not in accordance with the Foreign Secretary's announcement in this House it is inaccurate?" MacDonald asked. "The right honorable gentleman," Chamberlain replied caustically, "has put his question in a form in which I should have to say, 'I answered it, how far the document is accurate or not. I deplore doing this because it is not in the public interest that any Government should be called on to explain whether what purports to be a confidential document—and what it is such must have been improperly obtained—is or is not correctly reported. No statement of policy of the Government which is in contradiction which I announced in the House has any authority.'"

Chamberlain's Flirt Rejected. This exchange meant that MacDonald was challenging Chamberlain to state whether he still held the view put forward in the memorandum that an Anglo-French-Belgian defensive alliance against Germany should be concluded; and Chamberlain was making it clear that his views expressed in the memorandum before he went to Geneva were no longer Government policy which had been adopted by the Cabinet.

As explained at that time, the Cabinet overruled Chamberlain in favor of the German suggestion for mutual security pacts. Following Chamberlain's remarks, George Lansbury, Laborite, asked whether Chamberlain was dissatisfied with the good faith of the new in his department. "I am," Chamberlain answered, "and I am sorry any aspersion have been suggested."

David Lloyd George had been talking animatedly for some time with Commander Kenworthy, who now, apparently at Lloyd George's suggestion, asked: "Wasn't the full text published in the New York World and wasn't the article in the Chicago Tribune in March the latest summary?"

It is feared here that Poland will make exception to the Foreign Office that her frontiers should be revised in Germany's favor, while some of the comments about France are felt to have been unacceptably frank.

Named to Agricultural Post. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12. John T. Caine III, of Logan, Utah, has been selected to head the packers and stockyards administration in the Department of Agriculture, succeeding Chester Brown.

LONDON, May 12.—The publication in the New York World and the Post-Dispatch of the text of the Foreign Office memorandum on British policy and European security last Sunday created a diplomatic sensation when reprinted from America and published here and caused a debate in the House of Commons.

Efforts were made by the Foreign Office and by Foreign Secretary Chamberlain yesterday to minimize the importance of the disclosure by the allegation that the memorandum was reshaped from another American paper of two months ago.

ARMS CONFÉREES ACCEPT BRITISH CONTROL PLAN

Committee Votes to Exempt Warships, Airplanes and Submarines From Traffic Regulation.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, May 12.—Supported by the United States, Canada and enough other countries to get a majority, Great Britain has succeeded in carrying through her proposal to have warships and airplanes excluded from the control which it was hoped to establish over the traffic in armaments.

This exclusion from control applies to submarines, airplanes, sea planes and other war vessels. The decision was reached yesterday by the Military, Naval and Air Committee of the International Conference on the Trade in Arms and Munitions.

The majority for the British proposal was close and it got smaller and smaller as the president worked down through the list of war material. When it came to a vote on armored trains, three votes were taken and each time they resulted in a tie. The committee finally decided as an exception to retain tanks as armaments, the sale of which should be subjected to supervision and publicity.

Arguments for British Plan.
Arguments of the advocates of passage of the British amendment were that warship traffic cannot be hidden from the public eye and that it is not necessary to include them in the system of license and control. As for airplanes designed for war, the argument was that it was practically impossible to differentiate war from commercial planes and therefore their inclusion in the supervised list of war material would be unreasonable.

The Juridical Committee discussed whether the principle of prohibition or liberty in the exportation of arms should be the guiding idea of the conference, and upheld the idea of liberty. Allen W. Dulles, American member of the committee, finally found an acceptable formula according to which there would be prohibition of export to private individuals and freedom for others under conditions to be enumerated.

Turkish Proposal Beaten.
A lively discussion arose on the question of the Turkish proposal to make it obligatory for the Governments of manufacturing countries to export arms to any country, but the committee rejected this by an overwhelming majority. The delegates of 44 Governments represented in the conference are doing a lot of hard thinking over the warning against the danger of bolshevism uttered by Dr. Gustavo Guerrero, Salvadoran jurist, who has been sitting with George W. Wickham, former United States Attorney-General, recently in the league committee for the codification of international law.

Dr. Guerrero was expressing his hostility to any clause that would authorize the exportation of arms to a defacto Government as well as to the Government in the same country which had come into being in the accepted constitutional manner. He asserted that this would encourage civil strife and attacked those assuming that the

The winners in Missouri of the American Chemical Society's prize essay contest among high and preparatory school students have been decided upon and their papers will be sent to the committee, which will choose the national winners.

The American Chemical Society offers six scholarships to Vassar or Yale for the six students in the country writing the best essays on six specified subjects, the winners of each subject receiving a scholarship. The chemical society's purpose is to bring about a better understanding of chemistry by laymen. The prize winners in each State will receive $20.

Besides the scholarships offered by the American Chemical Society, several scholarships varying from one to four years have been offered successful competitors by Missouri colleges and universities.

The winners in Missouri follow: Richard Holliday, St. Louis Country Day School; Melvin Wickens, Manual Training School, Kansas City; Irvin W. ## JURORS EXAMINED BY JUDGE ENGLISH

Federal Jurist in East St. Louis Adopts Time-Saving Policy in Criminal Cases.

The trial of criminal cases with settings for the May term in the Federal Court at East St. Louis began yesterday. There are 78 violations of the national prohibition law scheduled in the first week.

Following a ruling made by the United States Supreme Court in conjunction with judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeals, Judge English yesterday instituted the practice of examining the jurors in advance of having the opposing attorneys do so. In order to save time, each counsel has the right to challenge three jurors and can submit questions to the Court, assistant District Attorney Walcott said, in explaining the procedure.

Frank Vitale, a grocer of 2415 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, who pleaded guilty of possession of liquor and maintaining a common nuisance, was fined $350 and sentenced to spend 30 days in jail. Vitale is a second offender.

Gus Vile of Belleville was acquitted by a jury on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor. Evidence in the case was collected by paid Klan investigators in a campaign made last spring.

William Rettich of Harrisburg, Ill., also was acquitted of violating the prohibition law. William Beveridge, prohibition agent, testified he had bought six drinks of intoxicating liquor from Rettich in the latter's home on Dec. 28, which was denied on the stand by the defendant.

Two witnesses for the defense testified Beveridge had visited Rettich's home on that night in an intoxicated condition, where he had been served with nothing more than "stewed rabbit" after the defendant returned from a hunting trip.

Hadley Can't See Himself As Cartoonist Does

John Lonsdale 'Wishes He Had Major's Talent' and Artist Wishes for Banker's Money.

Pursuit of the gentle art of caricature which is permitting St. Louisans to see themselves as Henry Major sees them leads today from the halls of learning at Washington University down to the vaults of banks and libraries of lawyers. The European caricaturist is presenting seven impressions of St. Louisans today.

Former Gov. Herbert S. Hadley, now chancellor of Washington University, found himself Major's first subject.

"Cartoonists told me when I was in public life that my face does not respond to caricature," he told Major laughingly.

Major answered with the soft tone and pleasing accent that he is attempting to lose and told Hadley that if he said the chancellor's name in the same manner, he might displease him and if he said it did not he would tell an untruth. So he sketched for three minutes with the result above.

"The Governor to a T."
The chancellor laughed. "Well, I don't think that's my nose," he said, "but I believe it will be recognized."

In the outer office the caricature was shown to an associate.

Major expressed the opinion that information from military attaches and secret emissaries eventually revealed the exact situation as to armaments. He explained that the American laws required publicity as to the output of private arms and manufacturers, and that the production of the Government armaments was negligible.

Soviet Restricts Japanese Flight.
By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, May 12.—The Japanese Charge d'Affaires at Moscow today informed Tokio that the Soviet Government has declined to permit the proposed flight of two airplanes through Russia, enroute from Tokio to London, on a flight sponsored by the Asahi, a Tokyo newspaper. The message said the Soviet Government would permit the Japanese aviators to fly only as disadventage under the convention.

COL. COOLIDGE 'DOESN'T REMEMBER' FAINTING

Housekeeper Says President's Father Collapsed; Condition Laid to Unwonted Duties.

By the Associated Press.
PLYMOUTH, Vt., May 12.—Col. John C. Coolidge, father of the President, does not remember anything about a fainting spell he was reported to have suffered early yesterday on the porch of his farmhouse home here, he told inquirers today. His health, he said, is "about as usual."

After an examination last night, Dr. Albert W. Cram of Bridge-water, family physician, pronounced Col. Coolidge's condition to be better than for weeks. Pulse and blood pressure, the physician said, showed marked improvement.

Persons close to Col. Coolidge maintained, however, that there was a collapse yesterday and that the 80-year-old man, faced with duties to which he has not been accustomed, is paying in failing health for the prominence he has achieved since his son entered the White House. Daily entertainment of throngs of visitors to the President's boyhood home, and a heavy correspondence that keeps Col. Coolidge at work far into the night, are blamed by his friends for the conditions that now exist.

Revived Quickly.
Miss Aurore Pierce, housekeeper to Col. Coolidge, admitted today that he fainted early yesterday while posing on the porch of his home for photographers. He was carried into the house and revived quickly. A few minutes later he was able to receive a delegation of Kiwanis Club members from Providence, R. I., and to walk about the farm with them in search of a rock to be used as keystone for a new building.

So rapid was his recovery that Dr. Cram was not summoned and it was last night after the report had reached him from other sources that the family physician arrived. In mentioning the incident Miss Pierce said:

"I hope this will be a lesson to him to tell us when he is going to start somewhere. Then we will be able to attend him if something happens."

Complained of Late Hours.
In a recent examination in Boston specialists reported that the President's father was suffering from "heart block" incidental to advancing age and indicated by slow pulse. Dr. Cram said that the collapse yesterday may have been caused by the heart skipping a few beats.

Friends and neighbors at Plymouth said today that Col. Coolidge had fainted greatly in the past year and attributed this to his unwonted duties. One of the few complaints he has ever been heard to utter concerned the heavy correspondence which recently keeps him up until the early hours of the morning, although for a lifetime he has been accustomed to early rising. A friend asked Col. Coolidge recently why he bothered about the mass of correspondence delivered to him day by day. The reply was another question: "If you got letters wouldn't you answer them?"

JAPANESE OUT OF SAGHALIN

ALDERMEN FINALLY PASS $24,765,000 CITY BUDGET BILL

Tax Rate Ordinance Fixing Levy at $2.56 on the $100 Valuation Also Enacted.

SALARY REGULATION
MEASURE CARRIES

City Employees to Receive Their First Pay Since March 31 During Next Four Days.

City employees, who have not been paid since March 31, will receive their April salaries beginning tomorrow. The City Treasurer's office expects that it will take four days to pay off all the departments.

The belated pay-off was made possible by the passage of the appropriation bill, providing for the 1925-26 budget of $24,765,445.50, at yesterday afternoon's session of the Board of Aldermen. With the budget bill were passed the tax rate ordinance, fixing the levy at $2.56 on the $100 valuation, and the standardization bill regulating the wages paid to city employees.

The vote on the budget bill and the tax rate bills was 21 to 1. The standardization bill was passed by unanimous vote.

Cause of Tax Rate Increase.
The budget bill appropriates $294,388.77 less than last year's bill, due to the cutting down of the department estimates by nearly $4,000,000. It is estimated the cuts will force the discharge of 250 employees. The tax rate bill is an increase of 9 cents on the $100 valuation over last year, when the rate was $2.47. The increase in the tax rate was recommended by the Board of Estimate to take care of the increased salary of policemen amounting to approximately $600,000 this year, and the $500,000 deficit from last year. One cent of the increased rate is for the School Board interest and sinking fund requirements.

The standardization bill does not make any change in the salaries of city employees. The only change in the bill from last year is to provide a probationary salary for new city employees less than the salary of old employees of the same grade, for the first year of service. The difference in the rate is $16 a month for employees receiving $200 or less, and $25 a month, in most instances, for those in the classified service at a higher rate of pay.

Alderman Eilers, speaking on the budget bill, inquired of President Neun if members of the Board of Aldermen could be sent to jail for refusing to vote in favor of the budget bill.

Police Law Cited by Neun.
Neun replied that there was a provision in the State police law for jailing any member of the city government obstructing the appropriation for the Police Department. The police appropriation was part of the budget bill.

Alderman Baur complained that the bill was "not drafted in our interest or the interest of the public," he declared. "There is a man in the administration telling us what to do, and I won't stand for it." He appeared to be referring to Comptroller Nolte.

Alderman Neun asked whether the budget contained the increased pay for firemen, and when informed that it did not, said: "The people have spoken by a vote of 2 to 1 to give the firemen an increase in pay and I don't think a few individuals, by raising technicalities of the law, have any right to withhold the increase from them."

Letter on Smoke Abatement.
Paul R. Conrad, president of the Merchants' Ice and Coal Co., in a communication to the Board of Aldermen read at yesterday's meeting, protested against the reduction of the number of smoke inspectors from eight to three. Conrad said as a member of the Chamber of Commerce Smoke Abatement Committee, he knew that effective work had been started in smoke abatement, which would be seriously handicapped by a reduction in force.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Shakespearean Controversy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In answer to Dr. Denton J. Snider on "Shakespeare," will say I have become convinced that Marlowe was the author of the Shakespearean plays for the following reasons:

1. Christopher Marlowe of the Shakespearean age invented and established the blank verse in which these plays are written.

2. By the age of 29 Marlowe produced five successful tragedies, including Henry VIII.

3. In an age of heresy hunters, he was accused of atheism. He was arrested and accused of heresy on May 19, 1593. With all the horrors of the inquisition in full play, death at the stake was his impending doom. Marlowe and his classmate, the Earl of Southampton, the richest and most powerful patron of the drama at that time, knew this. Before an ecclesiastical court he was pre-declared to death. Even flight could not save him for the church would pursue him to any country.

4. Under advice of his lawyers, Southampton smuggled him out of the country, and a report was put out that on June 1, 1593, he had been murdered in a brawl at Deptford, a suburb of London. Marlowe was sent in disguise to Italy.

5. At Padua, under an assumed name, he lived 34 years, and there wrote dramas, which he sent to his friend Southampton, who paid an actor named Shaxper 1000 to assume the authorship of these plays.

6. Because only five specimens of Shakespeare's handwriting are extant, and his signature is that of an uneducated man, who is uncertain as to the proper spelling of his own name, for he spells it in three different ways.

7. Because the authorship of these dramas has always been in dispute; some attribute them to Bacon, who wrote poetry, but not this kind.

8. Because his family was illiterate and signed their names with a cross-mark.

9. Mark Twain and Henry Waterson sided against Shakespeare, after personal investigation.

10. The late Archie Webster, in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, May 3, 1924, set out the evidence that finally convinced me that Marlowe was the real author.

A Camp Jackson Ditty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I NOTICED in your column for communications that Frank Steiner had a brief notice of the celebration of Camp Jackson day on May 10. This recalls to my mind a familiar ditty that used to be sung on and after that memorable day of 1861. Perhaps it would be of interest to some of the old veterans who may have forgotten it.

"Was on the tenth day of May,
Kelley's men were all away,
And the Dutch surrounded Camp Jackson."

Old Lyon, he was there,

Obeying Traffic Signals.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WISH to call your attention to the conditions existing today in regard to our present "Stop Light System." On a previous evening I was arrested for violating the law while passing a stop sign on Academy and Page boulevard.

The way I understand one should stop when the light says "Change of Traffic." But what if one is caught in the center of the street when the light says "Change of Traffic," as I was on this certain evening? Surely one should stop in the middle of the street. I was fined $25 on my first offense on any traffic law, because I did not stop in the center of Page and Academy. Is this justice in St. Louis?

The Cross-Word Puzzle.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ALL work and no play may make Jack a dull boy, but when the word puzzle, it leads to negative unity in taste, and this tends to abolish individuality. An article may become the pupil of a great maestro, but he cannot acquire the maestro's touch. Real art is without mimicry, no two artists are alike and when we encourage mimicry, we discourage art and without art the world would be commonplace, uninteresting.

If one has need of constant use of the dictionary, they will seek it without the aid of a popular stimulus—that is if they exercise reason. Sheep follow a leader, but a higher destiny was ordained for man.

Thanks for Publicity.

THE Council of Catholic Women of St. Louis Archdiocese extend to you their sincere thanks and appreciation for the generous amount of space given their convention, May 5 and 6. Sincerely yours,

MRS. CLARA E. DONOVAN.

BACKED BY AMBULANCE CHASERS.

The referendum petitions for a submission of the workmen's compensation law to the voters at next year's election are now in circulation. They are being circulated by a publicity company, which, of course, will be paid for every signature attached to the petitions.

The scheme to submit the compensation act to a referendum is merely a business transaction. Public policy and the welfare of the employers or wage earners with which the act deals have little to do with it. The compensation act is approved by the Associated Industries of Missouri, representing the employers. It is endorsed by President Wood of the Missouri Federation of Labor. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared that the act was an excellent measure and supplied a good working basis, which might be amended as amendments are found to be desirable.

It is generally agreed by those who have studied the question of compensation and have a knowledge of compensation legislation in other states that this Missouri measure is a fair measure—fair to employers and employees.

There cannot be any question of the need of a measure of this kind in Missouri and of the wisdom of legislation which provides for those who are disabled in industry. Without the law, the courts are choked with litigation by which both employers and injured employees lose, and only ambulance chasers and damage-suit lawyers gain. Wage earners disabled by accidents wait years for compensation and divide what they get with greedy lawyers. The act is opposed also by a few labor organizations who will not be satisfied with anything except radical measures. The financial backers of the referendum are the legal ghoulies who fatten on litigation.

It will be unfortunate if the 40,000 signatures in 11 congressional districts are obtained. It is to be hoped that citizens who understand what this act means in industrial progress and social welfare will refuse to sign the petition. If a sufficient number of signatures are obtained, however, the issue will have to be met at the polls. It should be met with a campaign of education and a majority of votes in its favor which will keep the act on the statute books and put an end to the years of struggle to provide for wage earners disabled in industry through certain, adequate compensation, without costly litigation.

DRUNKEN AUTO DRIVERS.

An automobile driver convicted of driving while drunk, driving carelessly, resisting arrest, and peace disturbance, has been fined $462. He appears to take this hard, for he is reported to have been reluctant to pay the fine and to have been placed in the hold-over to "think it over."

If he should decide to pay, and can pay, such payment will leave him free to get drunk again, drive his car while intoxicated, and perhaps seriously injure or kill someone. This experience may or may not induce him to mend his ways and become a careful driver. But if his license were revoked and he were placed on parole for a year, forbidden to drive a car during that period, and then made to give a pledge that he would drive soberly and carefully, he would be unable to injure anyone with his machine for that length of time, and the lesson might induce him to take the pledge seriously.

Permitting a driver convicted of driving while intoxicated to hold his license and go on driving on the same terms as other citizens is a poor way to prevent reckless driving.

PASSING THE HONORS AROUND.

Ty Cobb's recent batting feat in St. Louis, where he made six hits in one game, three of them home runs, has occasioned wide and complimentary comment. The bone-dry Springfield (Mass.) Republican joins in the chorus with a tribute to the hero's abstinence from the forbidden cup. Without detracting from the veteran's skill, or the value of abstinence, we do think that our St. Louis pitchers are entitled to some mention in the paeanyric. It takes more than a great batsman to stage such a performance; it takes a combination of marvelous batting and terrible pitching.

MR. DARROW'S PHILOSOPHY AND PRACTICE.

Lamenting the injustice of the world and despairing of any substantial improvement for centuries to come, Mr. Clarence Darrow, eminent criminal lawyer, observed in the Sunday Post-Dispatch that "As a general rule, the defendant gets the worst of it, because by far the majority of men charged with crime cannot afford to hire lawyers equal to those employed by the State."

Certainly the majority of men charged with crime cannot afford to hire Mr. Darrow. The Sage of Chicago may grieve over "man's inhumanity to man," especially to poor men, but his clients have been rich or backed with money. There is nothing censurable in that fact.

It is just possible, however, that justice lingers in shackles because illustrious savants do not practice their philosophy. There's a subject that might bear a thesis from the plausible pen of Mr. Darrow, who is about to seek leisure and space for thinking "far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife."

THE RUSSIAN RETREAT.

The Russian peasant continues to play the stellar role in the Soviet drama, according to Samuel Spewack, the Post-Dispatch's Berlin correspondent. The communist chiefs, Mr. Spewack reports, have formally recognized the wealthy peasant class, now become something of a landed gentry, have thus legalized the institution of private property, and have swung still further to the right by ruling that even an employer may be a Red in good standing.

The apostasy of communism is summed up in Zinovieff's pronouncement that "the era of confiscation has passed."

Certain salient facts of the whole Russian upheaval are clear. The peasants were the backbone of the revolution. The one solution for their age-old wrongs was land. It was the promise of land that won their allegiance to Kerevsky and when that King for a day faltered in the faith the way was opened for a successor who would renew with emphasis the promise of land. Lenin and Trotsky were opportunists, or practical men to the degree that they did, in substance, make that promise, though its fulfillment was not possible in their political and economic philosophy. They were glad to rob the few Peters for the millions of Pauls. They were glad to confiscate the big estates of the nobles and apportion them to the peasants as a necessary step in their Utopian scheme. But Lenin and Trotsky both presently learned, when they attempted in effect to confiscate the lands of the peasants through confiscation of their products, that this policy was impracticable. The peasant wanted land for himself, for the glory of the State, and made that fact so ominously convincing that even Lenin was forced to yield to it.

This latest concession to the peasant, therefore, which raises his status from that of landholder on parole or by official favor to that of freeholder, is altogether logical. In an historic sense it sounds the knell of communism. Russia is on the way back to property rights, driven thither by the peasant's elemental land hunger.

THE MAYOR'S HARD JOB.

Mayor Miller's brief experience in office seems to have had a chastening effect. A candidate can perform miracles of administrative efficiency every time he makes a speech. It is different with an official. The Mayor, for example, complains of the public's indifferent attitude; he complains of entrenched customs, which are hard to combat, such as the disposition of people doing business with the city to regard the city as fair game and charge all the traffic will bear; he complains of the practice of giving jobs in exchange for political support, with little or no concern for the applicant's fitness. Finally, he complains of the Mayor's limited powers, of the fact that the Mayor makes only a few appointments and that if he should attempt a wholesale discharge of those now employed by the city and to fill the vacancies with persons of his own choosing he would be violating the charter in theory and fact.

Altogether it is a hard life, the Mayor finds, but he has not yet yielded to despair. He believes that, with the proper support of the people, he will be able to give the city a "good, honest and clean municipal government."

This speech of the Mayor's at the City Club yesterday is quite different in tone from the cocky assurances of Candidate Miller. The change, however, need not be dwelt upon. Let it be freely acknowledged that the conditions Mayor Miller has encountered are realities which will persist and make efficient government difficult so long as the business of conducting the city's affairs is operated on the basis of partisan politics. The local condition is aggravated by the fact that our public business is a one-party monopoly, with the costly favoritism and inefficiency inseparable from such monopoly.

Whether St. Louis will ever get away from the folly of political management of its business may be a question. But a good many cities are junking this obsolete system. Some 300 American cities are now employing city managers. A small-city plan at first, it is now being taken up by larger cities, such as Cleveland, Cincinnati and recently Kansas City. How it will work in the larger cities is yet to be proved. Theoretically, it is sound in one vital aspect, namely, that the man in charge of the city is given the job because of his supposed ability to fill it, not because of his politics.

Mr. Miller is a 100-per-cent partisan who may never become converted to the unorthodox faith of nonpolitical municipal government. Nevertheless, his City Club confession is an indictment of the political management of city affairs.

A VICTORY FOR NATIVE HOODS.

Against the villains who are importing foreign-made liquors the dogs of war have been unleashed. How can our own moonshiners live if these aliens continue to flood the market with Scotch and Veuve Clicquot, with Bacardi rum and red Bordeaux? Page Fordney! Page all the gods of protectionism! Let power be given to the rum fleet's elbow as it puts to rout these tramp steamers with the wet cargoes! Already as the result of the new naval offensive against imported goods, hooch prices are rising, and the pockets of home talent are beginning to bulge. The Sir Broderick Hartwells are retiring in disorder, and the native bootleggers up the hollows and down the creeks are thanking whatever gods may be for this beneficent aid to American industry. A few old free traders may protest that the foreign product is better and cheaper, fortifying their protest with all the arguments against protection, but to no avail. Shoes and sugar, cutlery and kraut are barred by a towering tariff wall. Why should liquors be excepted from the list even though, instead of accomplishing this through the orderly processes of the customs office, we must maintain a whole secondary navy for the purpose?

A new metal compound has been perfected second in hardness only to the heart of the prohibition agent who pours good liquor into the gutter.

THE FACTS OF TAXATION.

Back in the eighties when the fight over an exorbitant post-war tariff was raging, the chief embarrassment to the protectionists was the fact that customs receipts were accumulating at such a rate that the surplus in the Treasury over governmental needs became a problem.

No such problem, of course, can embarrass the protectionists of today. No matter how high the receipts may go, with a friendly administration the beneficiaries of protection can get such sums applied to the reduction of their income taxes. Every movement undertaken to reduce income taxes has been accompanied with information from the Treasury that customs receipts had exceeded estimates. In the present year, we are informed, receipts from import duties to the last day of reckoning are $5,000,000 above those of the corresponding date in 1924.

Income taxes, of course, should be reduced as rapidly as possible. But how about the incomes of the consumers, who, on account of the tariff, are paying an enormous tax not extracted from them directly but hidden in the price of everything they buy? The tariff tax for the fiscal year ending 10 months ago was $545,537,594. This exceeds by $142,000,000 the entire receipts of the Government in 1920, and throws into a shadow the $318,891,395 collected in the last year of the operation of the Payne-Aldrich law, the inequities of which threw the Republican party into an unwilling retirement for eight years.

When will the people get the honest-to-John facts of who is actually paying the income tax and paying the cost of the war? Isn't it time for the citizenry to have at Washington an independent and scientific bureau of statistics to clarify and classify the facts of taxation, both direct and indirect?

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

Socrates: A good many of us went on Sunday to hear Dr. Fiedick, so at the agora last night we talked about it. They were kind enough to ask me to say something, which I was glad to do. You know Dr. Fiedick, who is a Baptist, has been preaching in a Presbyterian church in New York City, and the Presbyterians think it would be much better if he took his liberal views to a pulpit in his own denomination. At any rate, he is no longer preaching there, and we were given an opportunity to hear him here. He is a central figure in the so-called liberal-fundamental debate, just as Mr. Bryan, Bishop Manning and the Rev. John Roach Straton are central figures upon the other side. I came away with a definite impression about it.

Glaucou: You don't think too much of it as I recall.

Socrates: It is not that, my dear Glaucou. I think everything of it, but not too much of its practicability. The important thing about Dr. Fiedick is not that he differs with the fundamentalists upon the interpretation of Scripture; he could do that successfully enough, no doubt, when the other side is opposing science, as it is in the fight upon evolution, and when there are so many people who literally believe that the whale swallowed Jonah. The important thing about him is that he wants the Christian religion to be such as Christ himself would accept. If he returns, if you will read the four Gospels you will find out that Christ wanted us to give away our Burroughs Adding Machine stock and other material possessions and do good to men as far as we are able rather than to do men good in as many ways as we can devise. That is, since war is an economic matter as a rule and we are almost always fighting for somebody's selfish economic interest instead of any of the fine things we think we are fighting for, Dr. Fiedick would have Christians everywhere refuse to have anything to do with it whatsoever. He thinks Christ would have nothing to do with it if he were here, and wonders how the religion of Christ can contemplate the next war, which will likely be fought with germs, without realizing that it will never again be a party to any such unchristian business.

Polemarchus: If that is what he thinks, then the more power to him.

Socrates: Precisely. Polemarchus, we wish the Christian religion could be like that. We wish that it could render human-kind that great service. The trouble is that humankind will not let it do it, just as it will not let it realize any of the great political, social or economic ideals. Dr. Fiedick would not let us choose between the kind of Christianity we can have and the kind we ought to have, though without this choice we would have none at all.

Thrasymachus: Did you tell the agora that?

Socrates: Yes. I reminded it that human greed is the touchstone of every ideal and that what it did to Christ himself it will do to anyone trying to be like Him. It does not matter what the next war will be fought with. If it serves the economic interest of someone powerful enough to bring it about we will all go in for it with the usual delusions and passions, religion and all.

Polemarchus: You said something then, Socrates. So did Dr. Fiedick say something—something beautiful and inspiring; but it was only such things as dreams are made of. It is not religion that is at fault; we have made it what it is, nor have centuries of idealism, courage like that which Dr. Fiedick displays in the pulpit, nor all the Christs, Buddhas, Brahmas and Mohammeds made us one whit different than we were at the outset.

Glaucou: By Jove, Socrates! How terribly that is true.

Socrates: Yes, my dear Glaucou. Now let us resign ourselves to the loveliness of the spring day. At least man has never had anything to do with that.

It was inevitable that New York should at length assume a paternal attitude towards the rest of the country, and it has begun in baseball. One of the reporters here with the Giants this week says little or nothing about the Giants—they are safely on top with no likelihood of being displaced—but speaks hopefully of our own team. He thinks we are probably going to get some pitching, and in the course of reading about this we all but forget the unpleasant fact that the Giants have just beaten the life out of us again. The national game has become a great responsibility to New York. She buys pretty much everybody who can play ball, and then considers how she can keep the rest of us interested in it while she always wins. We don't believe that St. Louis is to have some pitching. What we do believe is that New York is trying to string us.

The Globe-Democrat sees in the Dillon murder another reason for annexing the country, though where we would be getting in this popular mystery without the rivalry between metropolitan and rustic police one shudders to think.

Why not have a Fathers' day and say it with tobacco?

MR. WILBUR CANNOT TAKE THE CHANCE.

From the New York World.

SECRETARY WILBUR is right in refusing to make an agreement with Edward L. Doheny for the use of the oil storage tanks at Pearl Harbor. It may be true that because they are empty, the tanks which Henry built in Hawaii at the Government's expense are in danger of deterioration through rust. But the Government's suit for annexation of the Elkhills naval reserve lease is still pending, also in danger of deterioration through rust, and any agreement which might affect the issue should be avoided.

The Pearl Harbor tanks are a monument to Albert Fall, Doheny's satchel and the most miserable flouting of the public purse which has occurred in Washington in a generation. Those tanks were built at a high price level in return for oil at a low price level—oil taken from a reserve which Presidents had insisted must be protected from invasion. Today, as a result of the Government's suit for recovery of its price level in return for oil at a high price level, no oil is being poured into the tanks and the floors are in danger of corrosion.

There need be no danger to the tanks, however, if Doheny has that patriotic interest in the navy which he described himself as having when he sent his son to West Point. No objection has been made to the tanks which interest he can cover the floors of the tanks with oil enough to protect them for the navy. There is nothing to prevent his doing that. Mr. Roberts and Mr. Fiedick, as counsel for the Government, have said, in fact, that they would approve action. "No objection has been made," he asserted, again on Thursday, "or will be made to Mr. Doheny's filling these tanks with oil sufficient to prevent rusting and deterioration if he sees fit to do so."

Further than that, however, neither the oil nor the tanks are being poured into the tanks as prepared to go. The Government says Mr. Pomerene and Mr. Roberts, and not make any agreement of the kind with the defendants without prejudice to the litigation pending, both civil and criminal. And with the fate of reserves consisting of 200,000,000 barrels of navy oil at stake, other attitude is possible.

STRENGTHENING BRITISH CURRENCY.

From the Boston Transcript.

GREAT BRITAIN'S grappling for financial stability ever forged by the world. Winston Churchill's announcement flatly and finally puts an end to all the debate of recent years whether the pound currency and all other "continental" currencies will in a depressed condition be newly evaluated and "manipulated" in terms of sterling or of the dollar. The debate is at an end because the difference between sterling and the dollar has been established as a fact. The pound is being the case—a common ground having been re-established between the world's two greatest financial powers. Last week has gone that any substantial part of the world will at any time within the measureably distant future abandon the standard.

Mrs. J. K. VAN RENSSLAER, AUTHOR, DIES AT AGE OF 77

In Late Book, "The Social Ladder," She Mourned the Passing of "True Society."

NEW YORK, May 12.—Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer, 77 years old, author and collector, whose family name is written on many pages of early American history, died unexpectedly last night. Although she traced her descent from a Scotchman, John Baidoon Spratt, said to be the "Jack Spratt" of nursery rhyme fame, Mrs. Van Rensselaer took especial pride in the Dutch ancestry of her husband and made herself an authority on the history of the Dutch colonization of New Amsterdam.

In a recent book, "The Social Ladder," she mourned the passing of "true society," declaring "New York society, as the average person uses the term today, is not composed to any great extent of either the socially elect or New Yorkers."

With her interest in early life in America, Mrs. Van Rensselaer wrote many books, among them being "New Yorkers of the Nineteenth Century," "History of Newport," "Goede Vrouw of Manhattan," "Van Rensselaers of the Manor," and "The Devil's Picture Books."

She was a member of the New York Historical Society, the Pennsylvania Historical Society and at one time was secretary of the Colonial Dames of America.

MASEFIELD, NOT SHAW, AUTHOR OF PLAY 'TRIAL OF JESUS'

Irish Dramatist, Aroused by London Reports, Says "Everything Printed About Him Is Misleading."

LONDON, May 12.—The London press to the contrary, George Bernard Shaw has not written a new play, he said, in asking the New York World to print a notice saying that everything printed about him is misleading or untrue.

The Daily News yesterday printed the following story: "Mr. George Bernard Shaw's new play is entitled 'The Trial of Jesus.' It was performed privately Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. John Masefield at Roar's Hill near Oxford. Masefield directed the performance and Shaw was present. During the recent holiday Shaw was able to write more than in any equal period before and the Daily News' Funchai correspondent has announced that he had completed a play which would appear shortly."

Most of the other morning papers printed a similar story. Asked to give an outline of the new play, the Irish dramatist exploded.

"What's 'Trial of Jesus'?" he demanded. "This is characteristic! Please put a notice in his type in the World and that all statements appearing about me in print are misleading or untrue."

Shaw explained that the author of "The Trial of Jesus" is John Masefield and that he happened to be present as a spectator. He said he had not written another play.

His annoyance over the false report was increased by the fact that it was the third he has had to deny. In the last two days. The first was a story that his next play would be a deal with St. Teresa, the mystic saint of Spain. "I know who started that here," Shaw said in denial. "Apparently it is thought that because I have written about one saint I'm going to set up in that line indefinitely. I am not in the habit of doing a thing twice."

The other report was a suggestion, in an Italian newspaper that he is shortly to become a Roman Catholic.

"It is particularly interesting," he said, "because it is the first I have heard of it."

THREE DOCTORS EXONERATED OF FRAUD CHARGES

Those Acquitted by State Health Board Are Drs. Loren A. Glasco and Alonzo G. and C. L. Hobbs.

Charges of fraud made against Dr. Loren A. Glasco, Whitewater, Mo.; Dr. Alonzo G. Hobbs, 4058 Olive street, and his brother, Dr. Clarence L. Hobbs, 708 Olive street, were dismissed yesterday after hearings before the State Board of Health. The case of Dr. Cyril H. Rogers, 3252 Lafayette avenue, was taken under advisement.

In the case of the Hobbs brothers, it was charged that they had fraudulently misrepresented, in obtaining licenses to practice, that they had attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons here for four years when, in fact, they had attended only three years.

Dr. Frederick C. Waite, special investigator for the board, testified that the college records bore out the charge. However, three former instructors and a classmate testified the defendants attended during the years 1918-19, when they were alleged not to have attended.

Motions to dismiss were presented by the defendant's attorneys in both cases and sustained. Assistant Attorney-General Caruthers admitting the evidence was insufficient.

The charge against Dr. Glasco was dismissed when he convinced the board that his statement, in obtaining a license, that he had attended the Physician and Surgeons' College at Keokuk, Ia., before enrolling at P. and S. here, was not fraudulent, as charged.

The defendant admitted he had been fined in Camden County in 1914 for practicing without a license. Since obtaining his license in 1917, he said, he has served two

GENEVA OFFICIAL STUDIES TETRA ETHYL GASOLINE

Chief of International Safety Section at Work—Sale in Switzerland Prohibited.

GENEVA, May 12.—An exhaustive study of the manufacture of tetra ethyl gasoline and lead compounds used as motor fuel is being made for the International Labor Bureau by L. Carozzi, chief of the International Safety Section. In the meantime, Dr. Carriere, Commissioner of Public Health of Switzerland, has prohibited sale in the republic of gasoline treated with tetra ethyl lead.

The purpose of Carozzi's study is primarily to ascertain whether manufacture of the fuel menaces the health of workers. Voluminous documentary evidence has been gathered, including a report from New Jersey factories. According to Carozzi, tetra ethyl lead is undeniably dangerous to garage workers, not only through inhalation of fumes, but also through personal contact with cylinders and other parts of motors covered with residue.

A detailed report on the effects of tetra ethyl lead has been received from Dr. H. Zangger, professor of forensic medicine at the University of Zurich, expert for the Swiss Confederation on Industrial Safety. He vigorously condemns the leaded gasoline as dangerous to workers and to the public, pointing out that 20,000 pounds of bromide of lead would be deposited yearly in Zurich's thoroughfares if the patent fuel were permitted.

Partner Held for Grocer's Death. CHICAGO, May 12.—Paul Stanovich, a grocer, was held by the police today after his partner, John Tuhacek, 45 years old, was found slain near the rear door of their shop. A theory that holdup men were the killers was discounted when the cash drawer was found untouched.

Years as Coroner of Hickory County.

Dr. Rogers was charged with fraudulently misrepresenting that he attended the University of Illinois and two Chicago medical colleges before attending P. and S. here. He insists he did attend them.

RULING OF LOCAL LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS REVERSED

State Board Holds the 53 Women Denied Voting Privilege Were Members in Good Standing.

The State Board of the Missouri League of Women Voters has reversed the ruling made April 15 by the local organization at University City whereby 53 women who had just paid their dues were denied the privilege of voting in an election.

The State Board, in its ruling, holds that while it is the right of any local organization to prescribe its own formalities in receiving members, every local league should have its desires in the matter incorporated in the constitution, which should conform in all ways with the constitution of the parent body. It is held that the women who were denied the right to vote were members in good standing and therefore eligible.

PUBLIC HEARING ON PAVING

CONTRACTS SET FOR MAY 20

A public hearing on the proposed letting of contracts for street paving in various parts of the city will be held on May 20, at 10 a. m., in the Board of Public Service rooms at the City Hall. The city charter provides that the hearing must be advertised in advance so interested parties may attend.

In a letter today to the Board, Mayor Miller suggests that contractors, taxpayers, officers of the Municipal Research Bureau and others be invited to attend and present any information they may have as to paving. "I have a desire to see that taxpayers of our city receive full value for money expended for paving," the Mayor states.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Manufacturers of foods and beverages containing sulphur dioxide and sulphuric acid will be prosecuted, declares the Department of Agriculture, unless their products are properly labeled showing the presence of these substances. Such labeling is required by the Federal Food and Drug act and has a direct bearing on the price the consumer pays. It was pointed out, but inspectors recently have reported a number of violations. General enforcement of the law is planned by the bureau, although no objection is made to the sale of foods containing the ordinary quantities of sulphur dioxide provided they are properly labeled.

German Monarchists Merely Have Stepped Down and Their Power of Wealth Is Intact

Old Feudal Spirit Unaltered by War and Republican Revolutionaries Treat Fallen Idols with Velvet Fingers.

This is the fourth of a series of articles by Samuel Spevack, Berlin correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World, who was assigned a roving commission to find the truth about conditions in Germany.

By SAMUEL SPEVACK.
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1925, by the Post-Dispatch Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

BERLIN, April 11.—There are various ways of overthrowing monarchies and monarchs. The Russians killed, destroyed, confiscated. The Germans talked matters over with their deposed rulers. Monarchy is dead in Russia. Monarchy is a real issue in Germany.

Not that there is immediate danger of royalist restoration in the Reich. Such a move would involve too many international complications and perhaps end the process of monarchist industrialists and land owners. But the fact remains that return to stability has brought with it the return to power within the framework of the republic men committed to the monarchy. The present German Cabinet is an example of the paradox.

Two separate stories are entwined in any record of the German monarchist movement. One is a matter of fact, the other of fact and speculation, one of the immediate past, the other of the present and future. What has happened to the Hohenzollerns, the Wittelsbachs, the Kings, princelings, Grand Dukes of the states of the Reich? What do they purpose doing?

This is the story of fact, of extraordinary fact. It is a story of revolutionary republicans who treated their fallen idols with velvet fingers. Shorn of their ancestral power they were permitted to retain the power of wealth. The mighty have not fallen. They have stepped down.

Rulers Still Obeyed.
Throughout the Reich the subordinate rulers still live in their medieval castles, in feudal splendor, honored and obeyed. Officially titles are abandoned. Actually they are not. Instead of remaining rulers they have become glorified land barons. Never anything but figureheads they have become exalted country gentlemen, powerful in prestige, powerful in wealth.

Generally the old feudal spirit has not been altered by the revolution. Big estates have remained intact, with insignificant division of the land among the peasants. The caste system has not gone. It is therefore easy to understand why the potentate in his castle has not suffered materially by the defeat in war, the defeat of royalty with the peace.

Begin with the Hohenzollerns, cream of the Princes. During the first year of the revolution the Kaiser received from his angry subjects nearly $4,000,000. He is given today $12,000 a month, 12 times the salary of the President of the republic.

Before the republic could call the German White House its own it bought the palace from the Kaiser's representative. Now the republic owns indisputably the Reichspräsidentpalais, while other royal buildings are only held in trust, with their status to be decided in the courts.

For the Prussian Government did not dare execute various confiscatory decrees. Instead, it entered into protracted negotiations with the royal family, negotiations which have not yet ended. In an effort to reach a settlement the Prussian Finance Minister has offered the Hohenzollerns properties netting an annual income of $312,500.

Hohenzollerns Reject Offer.
This was rejected. The Hohenzollerns demanded the return of all estates, forest lands, palaces, castles, villas; two-thirds of the most valuable paintings in the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin and the Schackgalerie in Munich.

The Kaiser insists his palace on Unter den Linden, the Palace of the Princes, Bellevue Castle and other royal buildings are his private property and demands the right of the Hohenzollerns to live in them. At present these buildings are unoccupied, save for caretakers. Silver and linen are stored away. Furniture not taken to Doorn is still intact. If tomorrow the Hohenzollerns should return to power they would have no more difficulties in readjusting their homes than plebeian subjects who return to city flats after a summer's vacation.

Not even the Grand Duchess Cyril would ask the Soviet Government to permit her to live in the Kremlin.

During the negotiations over the royal property it is administered jointly by representatives of the republic and the Hohenzollerns. The Kaiser took his personal jewels with him. The crown jewels are sealed while their disposal is made by legal experts. The Kaiser does not claim the crown, sceptre and orb, but he does want the diadems, stars and bejeweled trappings that go with a monarch's wardrobe.

When the Kaiser was compelled to live in lonely exile in Doorn he sent for odd bits of furniture. One hundred cars brought his necessary household effects, including silver and gold services. His new castle in Doorn was built from money received from his revolutionary subjects.

Crown Prince Heads Family.
The head of the Hohenzollern family in Germany is, of course, the Crown Prince. When he leaves his estate at Oels for a trip to Berlin, he lives at the Netherlands Palace on Unter den Linden, one of the smaller and least ostentatious palaces.

Two years ago the Crown Prince returned to his native country. Life had been hard in exile. The Kaiser is not the most liberal of fathers, and the Crown Prince was compelled to endure a distasteful simple life. When he returned the ancestral estate of Oels was put at his disposal. No sooner had he settled there than he began suit for the possession of the estate of which he is only a tenant. The estate is valued at more than $1,000,000.

The Crown Prince insists he is a country gentleman, nothing more. And he is—for the present. He is never out of touch with politics, however, and men in high positions in the Government do not conceal respect and affection for him. His is a waiting game.

All the Hohenzollern Princes receive a share of rents from various holdings. Prince Eitel Friedrich, the go-getter of the Hohenzollerns, has fared best of all through his own efforts. With the depreciation of the mark he began investing in speculative transactions, which ended profitably. A true go-getter he did not let republican laws stand in his way. He was arrested and fined $1000 for exporting large sums of money to Holland without a permit. None of the other Princes is rolling in wealth. None is poor, although they are to an extent dependent upon a rather miserly father.

The Wittelsbach dynasty in Bavaria is the only rival of the Hohenzollerns. Crown Prince Rupprecht, shrewd and cautious diplomat, believed by the Bavarians, is a figure to reckon with in any monarchist speculations. His importance was made vividly clear when Von Kahr was dictator of the State when Von Kahr proclaimed himself officeholder for the monarchy.

Rupprecht was in an unfortunate position financially. The first of the Bavarian Kings had merged his private property with that of the State. Despite the handicap the republican State found itself able to grant property valued at $2,000,000. He was given 5000 hectares of land, extensive fisheries, a Munich theater and other income-producing bits.

The Wurnburg and Nymphenburg

Castles were allotted to him as official places of residence. In his capacity of former Crown Prince he was now in a position to review parades, meet the Hohenzollern Crown Prince on a basis of equality and otherwise conduct himself as a deposed potentate who is revered in a republic.

Mecklenburg was not to be outdone. Mecklenburg is the stamping ground of reaction, of feudalism. Mecklenburg doesn't believe the war was lost. It was all a trick. Every time the German Government adopts a sane liberal course that will bring peace to the Reich and Europe, Mecklenburg vows revenge.

THEFT OF EXPRESS SHIPMENTS COVERED BY CLOUDS OF STEAM

Three Railways Employes in Boston Held and Eight More Men Are Likely to Be Arrested.

BOSTON, May 12.—Under cover of clouds of steam purposely released from a locomotive in the south station here, between $30,000 and $25,000 worth of American Railway Express Co. shipments have been stolen by a group of railway employes in the last three months. It became known last night on the arrest of three railway employes.

Eight more men, including an engineer, are expected to be taken into custody today in connection with the looting.

Police said the thefts were made from baggage trucks on the station platforms. The trucks to be looted were drawn along the platform, and as they reached a point opposite a certain locomotive, the engineer allowed clouds of steam to escape. Under cover of this screen, packages containing furs and valuable clothing were removed.

FRANCE ASKS FOR RIGHT TO SHOOT INTO SPANISH MOROCCO

Requests Spain Also to Prevent Provisioning of Abd-el-Krim Through Agadir.
 By the Associated Press.
 PARIS, May 12.—France is asking Spain for authority to bombard or attack the concentrations in Spanish Morocco of the Riffian tribesmen now engaged in an invasion of the French zone. The Spanish are further asked to stop the provisioning of Abd-el-Krim, the Riffian leader, through the port of Agadir.

 These requests are being made in the form of "conversations." Although there is no great confidence here in the results to be expected, the French feel that they are entitled to some help from Spain in the present situation, as they say they are placed at a great disadvantage in repelling the Riffian invasion through the ability of the tribesmen to make all preparations for attack while safely on the Spanish side of the border.

 Both the French and Riffians are continuing to bring up reinforcements and strengthen their positions, but while the French are constantly troubled by inroads from the invaders in the strip north of the Ouergu River, where several French posts are still surrounded, the Riffians are able to make all preparations just across the border of the Spanish zone and are getting supplies unmolested through Agadir.

 A censorship has been established on press dispatches of French and foreign agencies and newspapers dealing with the Moroccan operations. It was announced today.

Japanese Wary of Loan.

TOKIO, May 12.—The Finance Minister informally stated today that no negotiations were under way, either in New York or London, for the Japanese reconstruction loan, owing to the high rate of interest which probably would be demanded. The Finance Minister admitted that the loan might be negotiated in the fall, but at present no finances were needed for reconstruction work. The Finance Commissioners abroad will exercise extreme precaution in finally placing the loan, he said.

The ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH Offers

To Its Own Readers and the Readers of Other St. Louis Newspapers

$5,000.00 TRAVEL ACCIDENT Insurance Policy FOR $1 A YEAR

MORE INSURANCE. GREATER PROTECTION! LESS COST!

YOU DO NOT have to subscribe for ANY Newspaper to Get This Policy

Just send the application and a dollar and the Policy will be issued to you. No physical examination required, and no restriction as to residence — anywhere in the United States or Canada. This is an unmatched offer to newspaper readers.

An Exceptional Policy at an Unusually Low Price

This Policy, at a cost of only $1.00, offers you protection in amounts ranging from $5,000 to $500 for death or injury in accidents sustained while traveling in street cars, omnibuses, automobiles, wagons, railroad cars or steamboats, or while walking on the street, or in certain other accidents such as those caused by tornadoes, cyclones, lightning, as fully set forth in detail in the facsimile of the policy.

Policies will be issued to persons between the ages of 10 years and 70 years, except those who are blind or deaf, or so infirm, physically, that they may not travel with ordinary safety.

Heretofore, Travel Accident Insurance Policies, LESS LIBERAL IN TERMS, have been offered to readers of other St. Louis newspapers but the policy holder had to subscribe for the newspaper offering the policy.

This Post-Dispatch offer does not require that you subscribe for any newspaper, so the risk of losing your insurance following a stopped subscription is not present in this offer. Your purchase of the policy for one dollar, accompanied by the application clipped from this advertisement, completes the transaction. This policy is not sold by solicitors.

A thorough examination of policies of this type has been made to secure the best obtainable, and, as a result, the Post-Dispatch makes this unusual offer of a $5,000 Federal Life Insurance Company's Travel Accident Policy at a cost of only one dollar a year.

Here are some of the advantages that you do not get with insurance issued through other newspapers:

- 1—You need not subscribe for any newspaper.
- 2—The Cost of the Policy is Only One Dollar Per Year.
- 3—The maximum indemnity is $5,000.
- 4—Members of Police and Fire Departments and their families are eligible.
- 5—There is no risk of losing the insurance following a stopped subscription.

Caution—No policy of this type, and at this cost, can protect you against ALL accidents.

These policies are specially prepared with an aim to protect against certain kinds of accidents common in the life of today. Necessarily, they give only limited coverage. The language of the policy offered by the Post-Dispatch is plain enough for all to read and understand, but it is necessary, if misunderstanding or dispute is to be avoided, that all be cautioned to Read the Policy Carefully.

The signed application and One Dollar will give you this protection for a year—renewable at expiration at the same cost.

So that no one may be misled, or misinformed, we point out that the policies do not offer indemnity for such common accidents as

A fall downstairs. Being struck with a falling object. Cuts, abrasions, sprains, etc., occurring at home or in places of employment.

Nor does the policy protect, while on duty, engineers, firemen or others engaged in operation of railroad trains, public conveyances, etc.

The coverage is definitely limited to the kinds of accidents enumerated in the policy itself.

Mail This Application Today! Send It With $1.00 to the Post-Dispatch Insurance Bureau, St. Louis, Mo.

I certify that I am more than (10) years of age, and less than (70) years of age, that I am neither deaf nor blind and that I am not crippled to the extent that I cannot travel safely in public places, and I hereby apply for a $5,000 Travel Accident Policy in the Federal Life Insurance Company, issued through the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

$6,000,000 ADDITIONAL TAX ON SALE OF DODGE PROPERTY

Error in Procedure Doubles Revenue Due Treasury Department.
NEW YORK, May 11.—An error in business procedure on the part of the agents who negotiated the recent sale of the Dodge Brothers Automotive property to a group of bankers headed by Dillon, Read & Co., will result in additional revenue of $6,000,000 in taxes to the Treasury Department, making a total of $12,000,000 in all on the sale of the property, according to Fred L. Woodworth, United States internal revenue collector at Detroit. The sale price was $14,000,000.

Woodworth said that the agents handling the sale failed to consult their tax attorneys until negotiations had gone too far to enable the percentages of the sale to be changed. The board of directors of Dodge Brothers should have called a meeting and carried a motion to divide the assets among the stockholders and discontinue the corporation, Woodworth said. Then the stockholders could have negotiated the sale of the property themselves, a nontaxable percentage, leaving the only tax that could have been levied that on the heels.

M'LEAN TO BE GRAND JURY WITNESS TODAY ON OIL LEASES

Guy Ives, Assistant Secretary of State, Is Among Others Called to Testify.
WASHINGTON, May 12.—Guy Ives, assistant secretary of the United States Senate, was the first witness summoned at the opening session today of the Federal grand jury considering charges of conspiracy growing out of the naval oil leases. He was expected to identify the enabling resolution under which special Government counsel are prosecuting the cases. F. C. Finney, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, was called to testify after Ives.

Also summoned for today's session were Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, Theodore Mack, an employee of the Interior Department, and Ernest R. Hill, clerk of the Senate public lands committee which conducted an exhaustive inquiry into the leases. McLean testified before the Senate Committee that he had loaned Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, $100,000 upon the Secretary's unsecured personal note, but that the checks later were returned to him uncashed. Mack was called to identify Fall's writing on the note he gave to E. L. Doherty for a $100,000 loan.

MANAGER OF OIL STATION FOUND WITH THROAT GASHED

Timothy Beal Informs Police He Was Despondent Over a Nervous Breakdown.
A customer who failed to get a response, when he drove into the gasoline filling station at 5275 Gilmore avenue this morning, investigated and found inside, lying in a pool of blood on a cot, a man with his throat gashed. He was identified as the proprietor, Timothy Beal, 53 years old, of 4947 Laiburn avenue. Beside the cot lay a 12-inch bread knife. His throat was gashed in two or three places and there were cuts across the legs. He was unconscious. At City Hospital, Beal recovered sufficiently to write on a piece of paper that he had inflicted the wounds himself because of despondency over a nervous breakdown and an injury to his back. His wife told the police he had threatened to take his life.

An altercation in the saloon of Milan Tatalovich, 2701 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, shortly after last midnight, resulted in Michael Loeff, 25 years old, 249 Missouri avenue, being wounded in the forehead and the proprietor being held as the assailant. Tatalovich said Loeff raised a disturbance when the saloon man's wife sought to eject him. In the ensuing fight, Tatalovich said he struck his opponent with a tire pump, knocking him down. He denied any shooting. Loeff was removed to St. Mary's Hospital.

Danger Signals of High Blood Pressure

Many spells, hot flashes, pains in head, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness usually indicate high blood pressure. Warns

These are symptoms which show accumulation of poisonous waste matter in the system or that one or more of your organs has weakened and caused the heart to be overtaxed.
Check it at once for it is known that high blood pressure brings on hard-stroke, disease, and often sudden death.

Take a harmless purely vegetable

BODIES OF INFANTS
MAY BE EXHUMED

New York District Attorney to Act After Hearing Baby Farm Case Witnesses.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 12.—Decision to apply immediately for a Supreme Court order permitting exhumation of the bodies of two infants who died last winter at Mrs.
Geisen-Volk's Eighty-second street baby farm, with a view of obtaining evidence on which to bring homicide indictments, against one or more persons connected with the institution, is announced by Assistant District Attorney Ryan.

The announcement followed the examination of a score of witnesses in the first day's investigation by the District Attorney's office of complaints against the "infantorium" and its proprietress, 23 of whose tiny patients have died in the last 47 months and who is now in jail.

One of the bodies is that of 18-months-old Agnes Toohy, buried in St. Michael's Cemetery, the cause of whose death Dec. 15 was given officially as mastoiditis. Exhumation of its body was decided on,
Ryan said, after one of the witnesses, unnamed but described as a nurse who spent several weeks at the infant home, caring for her own child, a patient there, testified she saw the Toohy baby taken by the heels and dashed headfirst against a wall by an attendant the day before it was found dead in its crib.

Another Missing Baby.
The other body is that of William Winters, six months old, who died Feb. 3 and is buried in Calvary Cemetery. Records show the baby was the son of Mr. and Mrs.
William Winters, and died of congenital heart disease.

Ryan also listened yesterday to the complaint of Mrs. Mary Beukers of Philadelphia that her nine-months-old grandson, Robert Burton, who was placed in the infant-torium Dec. 2, four days before his mother died, was missing. Mrs.
Beukers insisted the baby tagged
"Robert Burton" at Bellevue Hospital was not her daughter's.

Other witnesses were undertakers who buried children from the East Eighty-sixth street house and attaches of hospitals where infants died after being removed from the Geisen-Volk establishment.

Defends Mrs. Geisen-Volk.
Counsel for Mrs. Geisen-Volk interviewed a woman who said: "I have known Mrs. Geisen-Volk for three years, and have had my child now five years old in her care several times for a total period of 18 weeks. During that time I visited the infants' home every day and closely observed its operation. I never saw anything there that was the least bit open to criticism. Each child was bathed every morning after which followed what Mrs.
Geisen-Volk called her "cuddling hour." She would take each of the poor little things and give it some of the petting and mother love it was missing. Before putting them to bed at 6 o'clock she would have another "cuddling hour."

Ill From Yearning for Son.
By the Associated Press.
SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 12.—
Only the return of her 15-year-old boy will save the life of Mrs. S.
C. Franken of North Liberty, according to physicians. Warren Franken, who sometimes uses the name Robert O. Ward, ran away six weeks ago. Grief-stricken, Mrs.
Franken's condition gradually became so serious she was brought to a local hospital. Yearning for the boy is her only ailment, it was said, and unless that is gratified she will not live.

A FLOOD LET LOOSE

True Motoring Comfort and Distinction Are Now Being Found by Thousands in the Improved Packard Six

FOR twenty-five years
there was building up a vast reservoir of human desire for Packard ownership.

There were tens of thousands who hoped that some day they could afford to own Packards.

Then came January 1, 1925, when the gates were opened.

The result—a flood let loose, as yet unstemmed, that is in turn to bring an ever-increasing flow of Packard Six buyers.

The thousands who have already taken delivery of Packard Six enclosed cars, at prices lowered by nearly a thousand dollars, know that their faith in Packard was well placed.

They are telling their friends that their new cars are true Packards, with improvements found in no other cars.

And quite naturally the friends are seeking the Packard salesrooms.

Have you seen the new Packard Six? We will be pleased to send one to your door.

PACKARD

THE Packard Six is built in ten body types, four open and six enclosed. Prices range

HOW OFTEN in the summer months, when vacations

Leaving valuables in a closed home is an unnec-

LARGE FIELD LIKELY TO GO TO THE POST IN KENTUCKY DERBY

3 Horses Still Listed As Probable Starters in Turf Classic Saturday

Quatrain, the Favorite, Has Done More Than Any Other Eligible, but Not Enough to Scare Other Owners Out of the Race.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 12.—All indications are that there will be a big Derby field, Saturday. This comes from the fact that there have been no 8-year-old colts or fillies eligible to the classic which has been enough proved during the preliminary racing to scare other owners out of the race. While Quatrain, the favorite, has done more than any single one of the candidates, he has not raced since the start of the New Orleans season.

At present it looks as if the following eligible will face the flag in the fifty-first running of the historic race, Saturday afternoon:

HORSE	Weight	Owner	Jockey
Quatrain	126	F. Johnson	B. Breunig
(a) Almaden	126	H. P. Headley	L. McDermott

(a) Hal Price Headley entry.
(b) Grabner Scott entry.
(c) Whitney Greentree Stable entry.
(d) Idle Hour Farm Stable entry.
(e) Xalappa Farm Stable entry.

The ranks of the Derby horses came in charge of Trainer Harry Rites, celebrated Maryland farmer and trainer who makes no secret of his belief in his colt's ability to take down the rich prize. Single Foot is a bay colt by Wrack-Virginia-L, and what he lacks in size he makes up in speed and stamina. He comes here with fairly good racing credentials.

They're Derby Mad.

TODAY, five days before the running of the Kentucky Derby—and in five days anything may happen—Quatrain was quoted as local "big money" at the astounding odds of 3 to 1 play or pay—which means that if the horse doesn't go to the post, you lose, without even getting a run for your money.

Still more remarkable were the place and show odds offered and accepted, within the hearing of this writer: Two to 1 to place, even money to show!

Imagine a bookmaker on the day of the race laying 3 to 1 to win, 2 to 1 to run second and even money to run third on the SAME HORSE!

Ordinarily a 3 to 1 shot to win, would be even money to place and 1 to 3 to show.

Public Accepts 3 to 1.

I ASKED the bookie about it. "They're just deluging me with Quatrain money. I cut the price to stop the stream, but they are taking 3 to 1. I can stand place and show money, because Quatrain either will win or run out of the money."

"However, I can't see why all the confidence in this horse, who will be running his first race in many weeks."

Quatrain is carrying more money today than was actually wagered on either Morvich or Black Gold; but the short odds will prevent dire disasters to future book men, such as wrecked several Chicago establishments and forced them to suspend payment on Black Gold.

A Possibility.

ONE of the freak possibilities presented by the Derby is that the same owner may this year win both $50,000 3-year-old stakes and with a LONG SHOT!

The owner is Gifford Cochran whose horse Coventry won the Preakness with ease and paid more than 20 to 1.

For the Derby, Cochran has another outsider, Flying Ebony, which has been quoted at 100 to 1, but which was backed down to about 20 to 1, last week, and is still lower today.

Flying Ebony was heavily backed in local books. Not long ago, in a race at the United Hunts meet, he won a good race at the fine price of 15 to 1. He is a factor not to be despised.

In the history of the two big stakes only one horse has won the Preakness and the Derby—Sir Barton.

Rough on the Bettor.

WITH a large entry list probable, a "field" bet is sure to be offered to Derby speculators. The mutual machines allow room for entries of only 10 owners. The track handicapper selects the nine owners whose entries appear to have the best chances. The others are all grouped under one name, "the field," and any one of the field that wins takes down the money.

The field this year appears unusually desirable as an investment from the fact that a large field will probably go to the post and six or seven horses may be running for the field.

Also, the race is one of the most open in years and the chance of an outsider winning is very good. Then, too, the fact that Coventry was in the field of the Preakness, and won, will all tend to make the play heavier on this particular field wager.

But right there is the gaspe. The more people that bet on the field, the less each winning ticket holder's share will be. If the field wins, it may turn out that the man betting on the field in the expectation of getting $30 for a $2 investment will get only $10 or $12.

St. Louis at the Derby.

ST. LOUIS, or that part of it which can subdue business and other complexes, will attend the Derby in greater numbers than ever before. Reservations for transportation already have staggered railroads.

One passenger agent, asked about the probable number of St. Louisans attending, remarked that the record of Jubilee year would be broken. "The attendance will be limited only by our equipment—and the limit of that already has been passed," he added.

RAY TO MEET DODGE IN A SPECIAL RACE

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 12.—Jole Ray and Ray Dodge, Illinois A. C. track stars, will compete in a special three-quarter mile race as one of the features of the Western Interstate Conference track and field meet here Saturday. Wisconsin and Iowa colleges will send athletes to other events.

Ritenour Likely To Win Pennant

Aided by Good Pitching, Weak Sister of County League Is on Top.

Four games will be played in the County High School Baseball League this week. Ritenour, which is leading the league, meets Wellston tomorrow and University City Friday. Both games will be played on the Ritenour Field. Saturday morning Webster and Wellston clash at the Wagner Field, while Clayton and Maplewood battle in the afternoon on the latter's grounds.

With but two more games to be played Ritenour has strong hopes of winning its first athletic title. This hope was strengthened yesterday when the leaders downed Webster, 5 to 3. Curdt, who has pitched the Ritenour nine to the lead, was effective in the pinches. The excellent pitching of Curdt has enabled Ritenour, the tall-

ROOSEVELT OPPOSES CENTRAL IN "PREP" LEAGUE TILT TODAY

The race in the City High School Baseball League will be continued this afternoon, when the leading Roosevelt nine meets Central. Tomorrow Soidan meets Yeaman. The games postponed last Saturday will be played next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The illness of Beckman, who last year hurled Clayton to a championship, has hurt that school enough to practically eliminate it from the race. Clayton suffered its only defeat at the hands of the leaders, in a pitchers' duel, 5 to 3. Beloit pitched good ball for the losers, but Curdt went him one better.

Having won no games thus far it is almost certain that Ferguson and Wellston are out of the race. Webster, in second place, is the only team within striking distance of Ritenour. Maplewood, which previously had a clean slate, was defeated by the leaders last week.

Joe McGinnity, 54, Gains Victory Over 18-Year-Old Hurler

By the Associated Press.
OTTUMWA, Ia., May 12.—Age triumphed over youth on the hill in a baseball game in the Mississippi Valley League yesterday, when Joe McGinnity, veteran "iron man" of the New York Giants, despite his 54 years, defeated John Welch of Ottumwa, 15-year-old twirler and the youngest man in the league.

Despite McGinnity's advanced age, the veteran pitched a healthy game and kept 13 hits well scattered, going the entire route, only three runs resulting. Dubuque, piloted by McGinnity, defeated Ottumwa, 7 to 3, largely because of the loose playing behind Welch, who was found for 10 hits.

It was the first game of the season in which McGinnity started and finished, having worked out for four innings a few days ago.

19 Entries for Preliminary Bouts

Six or Eight Events Will Precede Feature Matches Tomorrow Night.

Two more entries were received yesterday by officials of the Business Men's A. C. for preliminary bouts on tomorrow night's amateur boxing program at the Battery. The added candidates are Roman Kremintz and Dan Dohm, bantamweight representatives of the South Broadway A. C. With the new entrants the Battery officials now have a field of 19 boxers enrolled for the preliminary competition.

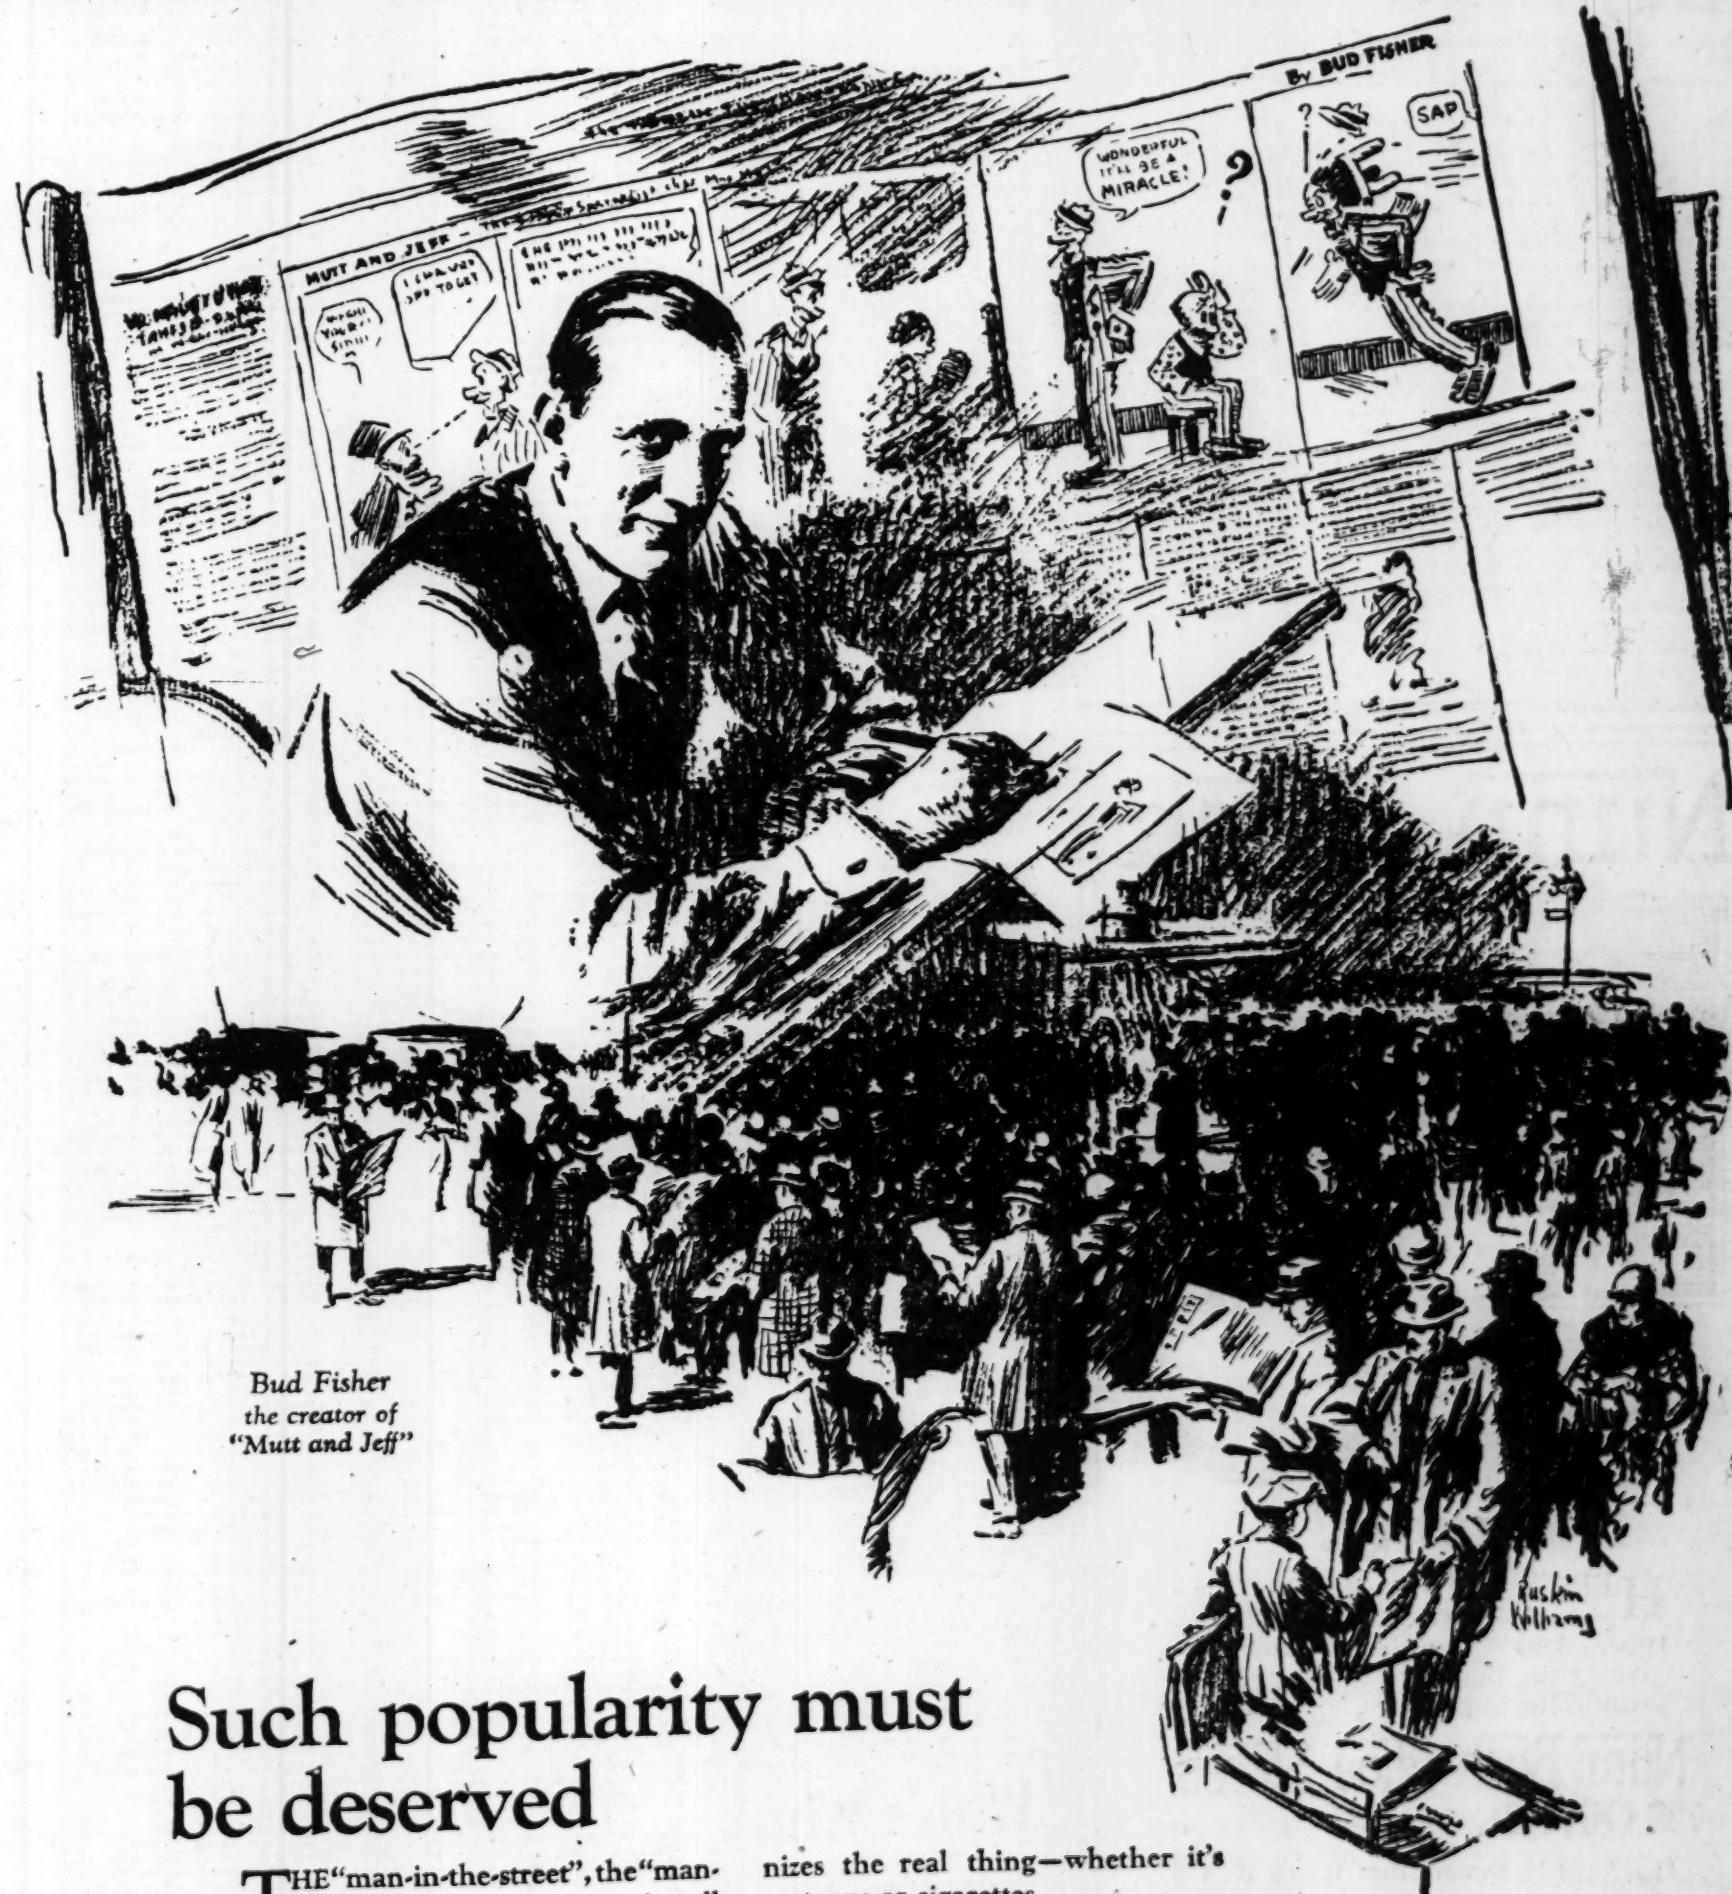

The featherweight class, with a total of seven entries, has attracted the strongest representation. George Cubano of the Business Men's A. C.; Sherman Stark and Morris Greenberg of Sherman Park Community Center; Carl McMullen and Al Walker of East St. Louis; William Amendt of the South Broadway A. C.; and Al Jewson.

unattached, are the ringsters slated to compete in this division. The bantam class is next in line with a total of five entries.

Principals in the six star bouts of the Battery card are tapering off their conditioning activities today, with Mike Sansone, the district flyweight champion, reported sick yesterday. Sansone's handlers feel confident he will be able to resume work today. He is slated to oppose Sammy Schenemann in the 112-pound feature of tomorrow night's carnival.

Lawrence Hawkins, a negro boxer, has been added to the training stable of Eddie Goldberg and is assisting George Butch in preparing Goldberg for his match with Ray Alfano, National A. A. U. featherweight champion. Many fans who have been watching Goldberg in training bouts predict that he will hand Alfano the surprise of his career when they swing into action.

MISSOURI FRUIT
PROMISES PLENTY

Condition Ahead of Last Year
—Small Amount of Wheat Abandoned.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—Prospects for the fruit crop in Missouri were not seriously injured by frosts early this month, and reports on the various crops show most of them are in better condition than at this time last year. It is stated in a bulletin issued today by E. A. Logan of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and Jewell Mayes of the State Board of Agriculture. The apple crop is 82 per cent the normal average, compared to 80 per cent at this time last year. The peach crop condition is 60 per cent, as against 40 last year. cherries and plums are reported at 77 per cent and strawberries at 96 per cent. The strawberry crop was damaged to some extent by frosts in local areas.

More Wheat in Prospect.
May condition of Missouri wheat is 89 per cent of normal. It was said, forecasting an average yield of 12.35 bushels an acre on the 2,312,000 acres to be harvested. The estimated total yield for Missouri is 28,865,000 bushels, compared to a yield of 24,589,000 bushels in 1924 from 1,924,000 acres. The wheat came through the winter in better condition than expected following heavy sleet storms in December, the bulletin stated. Only 1.5 per cent of the 2,347,000 acres planted was abandoned, leaving 2,312,000 acres of wheat for the Missouri harvest. This abandonment is the smallest in several years.

Estimates on the national wheat crop place it at 444,832,000 bushels, against 890,037,000 bushels last year. Labor Supply Good.
Other crop condition reports show: rye, 90 per cent on 22,000 acres; or an estimated crop of 377,000 bushels; oats, 91 per cent, on an acreage of slightly more than 1,500,000, yield not estimated; hay, 91 per cent of normal compared to 84 per cent last year; wild hay, 93 per cent against 80 last year; pastures, 93 per cent against 80 last year. Pastures have afforded full feed for livestock for some time. The bulletin states farm work is considerably more advanced than at this time last year. Plowing is 74 per cent completed, against

RECORD OF SUIT AGAINST GOV. SMALL FILLS 27 VOLUMES
Abstract of 12 More Volumes to Be Filed in Supreme Court.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 12.—A complete record of the civil suits against Gov. Len Small, a work of 27 huge volumes, most of them the size of a newspaper file, was formally filed with the Clerk of the Supreme Court yesterday. This prepares for possible argument in the next term of court, three weeks from now. Filing of this complete record completes all but one of the preparatory labors of Gov. Small's lawyers. An abstract of the record must be filed. It will be a 12-volume work. Appeal to the Supreme Court was taken by Gov. Small's lawyers when a Judge in the Sangamon County Circuit Court held that he was accountable for approximately $11,000,000 of public funds, alleged wrongfully withheld from State taxes, while he was State Treasurer.

CHIROPRACTOR LOBBY REPORT

Association Spent $5135 in Furthering Legislation.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—The Missouri State Chiropractors' Association spent $5135.87 during the recent session of the Legislature in furthering chiropractic legislation, according to a report filed in the Secretary of State's office by George Saxe of St. Louis, president of the association. The chiropractors sought State recognition and waged a fight for a bill to create a State Board of Chiropractic Examiners. It was passed by the House but killed in the Senate. According to the statement, $4000 of the amount spent went to Charles A. Smith of St. Louis, legal adviser and attorney, to promote chiropractic legislation, as partial payment for his services from Dec. 1 to Sept. 1. The other $1135.87 was expenses, including railroad fare and other items, of various members.

Save!

If you can save a substantial part of the price of an auto by closing a deal this week, why not save it? Many St. Louis automobile dealers are willing to sacrifice used car profits this week to encourage quick sales. New cars are being received daily. Space occupied by used cars is needed for new ones. Money tied up in them can be used to pay for new ones; hence the classified "Automobiles" columns of the Post-Dispatch contain many attractive offerings. Look now for the car that you want, and then see the dealer without delay. Used Car Bargains like many of those advertised will be sold quickly.

WAGES AND RELATIONS

By WINIFRED BLACK

JUDGE MORGAN of San Francisco has heard thousands of divorce cases since he's been on the bench and he's given out a few rules on how to be happy though married.

Father interesting thing—those rules.

"Husband do keep your hands on your pay check."

"Don't turn over to your wife your entire earnings every pay day."

"Don't let the wife run the financial end of the household."

"Don't bring your relatives into your house as permanent visitors. Put your foot down hard when your wife suggests that her mother, father, brother, sister or any relative should make an extended visit to you."

What do you think of Judge Morgan's rules?

I was amazed at the pay check idea, aren't you?

Why Not Decide Sensibly?

How in the world can a woman want to put her husband into the position of begging her for money? How can she want to put her husband into such a humiliating position? Why shouldn't the husband and wife have a good plain talk about finances at the beginning of the year? What's the point of the year? What's the point of the year? What's the point of the year?

A woman shouldn't be dependent upon her husband for her spending money.

If she's any kind of a wife at all she earns her share in everything he has, and as for the woman who thinks she ought to manage her husband's money for him, how can she even dream of making a dependent of a man—on his own money?

That's the way Mary acts. She gives John just what she thinks he ought to have for his luncheon and his cigar and that's that. Poor John! They say he even has to ask for Christmas money when he wants to buy Mary a Christmas present and Mary thinks she's a good wife because she's economical.

The visiting relatives—do they know anybody on earth who doesn't know better than to ask anybody else on earth to come and visit for longer than two weeks at the very longest?

The first day is glorious, the second day is fine, the third day is friendly, the fourth day is a little cool, the fifth day is sarcastic, the sixth day is bored, the seventh day is fussy, and from then on the man of the house begins to count the hours till the mother-in-law or the sister-in-law or the father-in-law is gone.

And it's a thousand times worse when the relatives are on the husband's side. Husband can get out of the house and escape his in-laws; wife has to stay at home and eat and drink with them, three times a day.

She never does anything the way the in-laws think it ought to be done, no matter how good the in-laws are, or how patient or how generous. There's always some where in the background a sort of subtle criticism and it is not only the things you say that make a house feel crowded, it's the things you think.

Good solid advice, Judge Morgan, wouldn't it be fine if a few of the married couples would listen to it?

CRACKER PUDDING.

Beat two cups of rolled cracker crumbs into two cups of rich warm milk. Blend two tablespoons of butter and a cupful of sugar. Add the beaten yolks of six eggs, and a teaspoonful of vanilla flavoring. Turn in the warm cracker mixture, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Butter a pudding dish and spread the bottom with a layer of good jam; turn the pudding over it and bake 20 minutes. If desired two egg whites may be left out and used for a meringue. The pudding is good hot or cold.

ASPARAGUS AND EGG SHORT-CAKE

Prepare good-sized baking-powder biscuits by the usual recipe. While they are baking, cream two cups of diced cooked asparagus in white sauce, and hard-cock three eggs. Split and butter the biscuits and put the creamed asparagus between and on top. Garnish with the eggs sliced.

Salmon Squares.

Open a small can of salmon, drain, free from all skin and bones, flake it fine, then dust with a little red pepper and salt. Add a teaspoonful of onion juice, lemon juice and tarragon vinegar, a teaspoonful of minced chives, a teaspoonful of chopped pepper, minced white of a hard-boiled egg and a tablespoonful of washed capers. Fold in enough mayonnaise, made without mustard, to moisten the mass, spread lightly on buttered toast squares, put the egg yolk through the ricer, putting a little in the center of each square, and dust with a little paprika.

"Could Such Things Be?"

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

THAT'S what we all say about anything that looks strange to us: "Could such things be?" And the other fellow is saying it about what we like; what we think quite normal.

That's what we say about fashions, as we turn the pages back. We do not see how it could ever have been beautiful—that bustle! And the hat that sat up on top of the head—the floured skirt that lay on the ground—they must have been things to leave you cold! But somehow they weren't THEN.

The girl in the pompadour, with the back of her head like the top of the modern young shell's warmed the heart of the man in the peg-top trousers then, just as the young person with the clipped mane, knee-skirts, cannon-ball beads and make-up does the gallant in cross-word puzzle shirt, lineoleum-block stockings, hat on his nose and ferry-boats shoes now.

But the girl in the cannon-balls contemplates those dead-end-gone fashion-ettes and chirrup in awe: "Could such things be?"

I wonder what kind of a looking girl will be looking at an old-fashioned drawing of our fashionable girl and saying: "Could such things be?"

And what will she have on?

A Young Dog Is Taught Respect

How often people find too late That they have been precipitate.

—Old Mr. Toad.

JIMMY SKUNK teased Old Mr. Toad by upsetting him as fast as he got to his feet until Old Mr. Toad refused to try to get to his feet. He simply remained lying on his back quite as if dead. Jimmy poked him, but Old Mr. Toad remained motionless. It seemed as if he didn't even breathe. Jimmy began to wonder if he were dead.

"I didn't mean to hurt him," muttered Jimmy. "I haven't hurt him. If he is dead he must have been frightened to death. Of course I didn't mean to frighten him like that. In fact, I didn't think I was frightening him. I was just having a little fun with him. It is too bad. I didn't mean any harm."

Jimmy turned his back and slowly ambled away. One of Old Mr. Toad's beautiful golden eyes opened. Then the other opened. He stretched out a leg and then another. A minute later he was on his feet and on his way, hop, hop, hippity-hop, hop, hippity-hop. Jimmy Skunk didn't see him, for he had gone the other way.

Old Mr. Toad wasn't half way to the Smiling Pool when he met a dog. It wasn't Bowser the Hound. It was a strange dog, a young dog, a very young and foolish dog. If Old Mr. Toad had seen him in time he would have remained still and the dog probably wouldn't have seen him. But Old Mr. Toad didn't see him in time. The foolish young dog saw him and began to dance about and bark. He made little rushes at Old Mr. Toad. It was most unpleasant. Old Mr. Toad even began to be a bit frightened. He did his best to keep on, pretending not to notice that dog. But this didn't suit the foolish young dog at all. He wanted to be noticed. He wanted to make this homely old fellow afraid. So he barked harder than ever. He knocked Old Mr. Toad over and he was very rough about it. Finally he grabbed Old Mr. Toad in his teeth. They were sharp teeth and they hurt. Yes, sir, those teeth hurt.

Now Old Mr. Toad carries with him in his skin, especially in the two big bumps you will find just back of his big, bulging eyes, a liquid which is most unpleasant in the mouth.

As I said before, those teeth were sharp and they hurt. They hurt Old Mr. Toad a great deal. He promptly poured out some of that unpleasant liquid and that dog dropped him in a hurry. It took only a few drops to make him do it.

Old Mr. Toad watched that foolish young dog rubbing his nose in the grass and otherwise showing that he was most uncomfortable. "Perhaps that will teach him respect for those smaller than he, and that some folks are not so helpless as they seem," muttered Old Mr. Toad. "Ouch! It is a good thing I made that fellow let go when I did. I guess he won't bother me any more today, so I'll hurry on. It is high time I was down to join in that chorus in the Smiling Pool. My voice is needed there. My small cousins, the Hy-las, are doing very well, but need my voice to help." He started on again, hop, hop, hippity-hop.

The foolish young dog took no notice of him. He was too much occupied with his own troubles. He had been taught a sudden and most unexpected lesson of respect. Never again would Old Mr. Toad have cause to fear him.

Giving the Throatline Added Attraction for Low-Cut Frocks

By LUCREZIA BORI, The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

A LOVELY throat is truly a possession of which any woman can be proud.

Like so many other beauty points, our throats come in for added attention with the advent of warmer weather. This is because they have a clearer view than they have been all through the cooler months. Of course, our throats are more or less exposed all the time, at present, because of the easy cut of the fashionable necklines. I am most thankful for this, as the old high, tight collar did much to squeeze the neck from true beauty, and to leave dark, marring stains upon its whiteness.

But when the warmer weather comes, there is no longer the top coat which buttons across the throat and hides any defects from view, at least during the time one is out of doors. All of the frocks worn indoors reveal the lines of the neck, of course. This is true through the winter months, but is more than ever true in warmer weather.

All the dainty Spring and Summer frocks I have been seeing in the shops have necklines which are most revealing and most effective when the neckline of the wearer is a pretty one.

On the other hand, a well-cut neckline on a frock adds to its charm not at all when the neck is ugly.

Now, first of all, you can do much to lend the illusion of perfect proportions to your neck by choosing the necklines of your frocks most carefully.

If your neck is long and thin, avoid the V neckline, which only serves to add to its apparent length.

On the other hand, if your neck is short, the V-neckline is the most flattering possible, as it helps impart the long line which so many women are anxious to have. If your neck is short, do not make the mistake of affecting rounded necklines cut off close to the base of your throat, as they make it appear shorter. This round, fairly high neckline, is ideal for the long thin neck.

Of course it is well to change the appearance of your neck by being careful in your choice of necklines. It is better, at the same time that you are choosing your necklines carefully, to be doing some real beauty improving on your neck itself.

Massage is excellent to correct the too fat or too-thin neck. If your neck is too full and bulges in places where it should not, what you should do is to massage it with a light, rotary motion of your three middle fingers.

Strange to say, the same movement which reduces a fat neck will also flatten a thin scrawny one, especially if the massage movement is followed by a generous application of nourishing skin food. You will find cocoa butter, also, an excellent agent for fattening the thin neck. This is rubbed into your neck nightly, and left on so it can soak thoroughly into the tissues.

Also, it is very important to be sure there are no dark marks or stains to mar the beauty of your neck. Lemon juice is excellent to remove dark stains and restore your skin to lovely whiteness.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Mystic.

A MONG the mystic he moves, remote, untouched by all its haste and greed; he pays to worldly pomp small note, to wealth he gives but scanty heed. A mystic, it is he who knows the cherished life of lands afar, earth's heights and depths, the joy and woe of changing reign and avatar. He reads the paths that few men go, he reads the message of the stars, for him the sunset's fading glow is more than gold and crimson bars. For him the nodding roadside flower is more than petal and perfume that passes in its little hour into its silent, dusty tomb. Though life be cold or life be kind, serenely on his way he goes; for him the whisper of the wind, for him the rune within the rose.

FAMOUS WOMEN

FLORINE.

FLORINE was a daughter of the Duke of Burgundy, and was betrothed to Rueson, King of Denmark, and she accompanied this Prince to the first Crusade, in 1097. She was to have married him immediately after the conquest of the Holy City. However, in a terrific battle with the Saracens they were both killed, as were all their companions, not one being left to bury the slain.

Deviled Egg Canape.

Roll hard enough fresh eggs to allow one to a portion. Peel, shell, cut in halves lengthways, remove the yolks and devil them. To six yolks use two teaspoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, a saltspoonful each of salt and red pepper, the juice of an onion, juice of half a lemon, a tablespoonful of soft butter, a heaping tablespoonful of chopped chives and a tablespoonful of sweet or sour cream. Work to a smooth paste, then refill the whites with the mixture. Dip the eggs flat side down on toast rounds and dust with a little paprika.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

WOMAN'S SKIRTS.

VERILY, my Daughter, since Eve first discovered the fig-leaf, she in all the world hath so troubled the heart of man as WOMAN'S SKIRTS. Nay, not the World War, nor world peace, nor prohibition, nor income tax hath caused more discussion among prophets and seers, and more joy among the wits and the cynics! And, alas, if signifying not, whether she weareth her garments long or short, whether she weareth much or little, still doth she offend the eyes and incite them to scorn and ha-ha-ha.

Behold, when damels weighted themselves down with wools and ruffs and diamond stomachers, the reformers raved, saying, "Thou OVER-dressed, and thy vanity is abominable!"

And, likewise, when they doffed their wigs and cut off their hair, the moralists raved, saying, "Alas they are UNDER-dressed—immodesty is terrible. For such a woman what a woman! At a dinner-party until he looketh under the table!"

Thereupon, the women discarded their hoopskirts and cut off a multitude of petticoats, and heightened their collars to their ears, covered their faces with poke bonnets. And the health-experts said, "Down with them—for they are unsanitary!"

And again the women sought to please men, and they cut off their trains from off their garments and began to shorten their skirts. Yet, behold, the whole world of men arose and mocked their accents of scorn and horror. And the Rainy Daisies, who flourish five inches of ankle, were covered with shame and contumely.

Then did woman arise in rebellion, saying: "Pooh, pooh! I shall do as I PLEASE! For, there is no such thing as the conscience and ethical ideal of men!"

And, little by little and inch by inch, the skirt of woman has raised itself, and her garments have grown lighter and fewer.

Lo, the arm goeth uncovered in the daylight, and the sacred peephole forth bare and bold; yea, not even the unsightly EAR is hidden from man's eyes.

And, alas, it hath come to pass that, when a damsel walketh in the Summer moonlight with her Beloved, she is covered with TWO POUNDS of clothing; and one pound of it is shoes!

Verily, verily, if woman's dress be sinful, surely the WEIGHT of her sins hath been lifted!

And peradventure, it shall in time come to pass, that men will have NOTHING to rave about!

Where, then, shall the preachers find his text, the wit his jest, the sinner his alibi?

For, woman's clothes shall be no more! And, the Cynic shall say: "TOLD YOU SO!"

MARRIAGE SCALES

Barbour

CHAPTER 32.

FRESH TANGLES.

DORIS considered Dick and his proposal dispassionately. Between narrowed lids she eyed him as minutely as if she never seen him before, as if he had not rejected her scores of times during their long acquaintance.

Her hesitation gave him no hope. He didn't guess Doris, after the fashion of an awkward, was wondering what he would do if she accepted of him. He had upon the man she loved, ever a girl was tempted to engage herself through pique, it was at that moment.

Heart-sore over the revelation of Craig Cullam in his true colors as she believed, and fearing what she shuddering breath that he had let him see how she was, she was almost ready to give him direct to such an implication by flaunting her engagement to Jervis in his face.

It was only her fine honesty and sense of fair play that kept her from at once accepting Jervis. She couldn't cheat the latter to please her love for Cullam. And, moreover, her love for Cullam had been beautiful and too sacred to be flayed by so trite an emotion pique.

So she shook her head a bit and said:

"No, Dicky, I'm—I'm sorry."

and the rest of us leave in the morning."

"What I don't understand," Jervis persisted stubbornly, "is why neither Mariana, nor Cullam ever told you that they knew each other. And yet, from the looks of it, this thing has been going on for the space of a long time."

"Please, Dicky, you're a bit insulting to my sister by that implication."

He refused to be warned by the flash of anger in her eyes.

"Do you honestly believe," he asked, "that Charles was called away on business? Don't you think it was a put-up job, arranged by Cullam, to send Charles off on a wild-goose chase?"

He saw his blunder and stopped too late. "Take me in, please Dicky," Doris said icily.

The canoe was beached in silence. Without waiting for him to join her, Doris hurried up the garden path to the house. Mariana and Cullam were just emerging from the summerhouse. Mariana's face was strained. Cullam bore himself with a bit of a swagger, as he did in the role of dashing French officer in his play. But his eyes, if Doris had cared to look, were wretched.

He was wondering if the interminable day would ever end, how soon he could call the play finished, and send for his car to take him back to town.

Mariana hurried on ahead, leaving him with Doris. He was tongue-tied. What could he say without blurring out the whole wretched truth?

Doris put an end to the awkward moment by remarking pleasantly: "What do you think of postponing the chorus rehearsal until Tuesday afternoon? I notice we've been having such straggling attendance on Mondays—people recovering from gay week-ends. I dare say it's hardly worth while taking up your valuable time for such a handful."

"If it wouldn't be too much trouble," he agreed formally. "Not at all," she assured him serenely. "I'll have my secretary ring up the entire list in the morning."

They had reached the veranda by this time. The Harringtons and Geraldine Seabury were waiting for them. Tea was being served. The precious moment which might have averted future despair, passed fruitlessly.

To Be Continued.

To hold the Charm of a Slender Ankle

Slender ankles—such priceless assets to a woman's store of riches! To think how many dainty ankles of yesterday have grown to be most clumsy, unattractive ones today—when just a little care would have saved their graceful lines.

After the dance a little ache or pain, or after too much standing in low shoes a tired feeling in the feet—a run-over heel or leaning heel—these are Nature's danger signals which flash the warning that your ankle loveliness is fading and delicate curves are disappearing. These the symptoms of passing beauty that tell you there's a strain somewhere.

Just as a sudden wrench will swell an ankle instantly, so does a slight but constant strain swell the feet and ankles by degrees. The very gradualness with which a slender ankle swells is where the greatest danger lies. Heels that aren't level—feet that are weary—how easy to neglect them. But how easy to correct them.

Trimfoot slipped into your dainty shoe or slipper provides the gentle adjustment needed to distribute the body's weight evenly upon the framework of the foot. The foot sets solidly upon the ground—firmly supporting the body in erect and graceful posture. Strain is removed. Swelling is arrested. Aches disappear. Dainty ankles hold their charm, and graceful curves retain their beauty.

Trimfoot—invisible when worn—is instantly slipped from your walking shoes to your evening pumps. The price is trifling. The results are priceless. Slender ankles—glorious comfort—and the graceful poise of figure that comes with proper carriage.

Ask for Trimfoot at any of these Stores:

TRANSFERRED AGAIN!

It is the voice of the copper, I hear him complain: "I'll have to be moving, I'm transferred again. Today I was peacefully walking my beat. When somebody yanked it from under my feet. And so among strangers I'm doomed to remain. Until in due season I'm transferred again."

TOO TRUE.

The man on the sandbox says if the Shocker had pitched for the Browns the way he pitched against them we would have a couple of pennants sailed away.

Incidentally as it was only the second victory of the season we take it he had been saving it up for us.

On the other hand, Joe Bush was tendered a base hit shower by his former companions in the second inning at the end of which he retired to the shower amidst a shower of rain, base hits and chagrin.

Everett Scott announces that he will not play the bench for the Yanks. That is one position in which he has had absolutely no experience.

NO CHANCE.

There was an old fellow named Scott.

Whose legs were from under him shot;

When asked would he stay On the bench with full pay.

He answered and said: "I will not."

QUITE SO.

Maybe the Deacon would rather rest on his laurels than on the bench.

That's fine!

A few more wallops like that may have a tendency to cure the skepticism of these speed hounds who don't believe in signs.

Five hundred bucks is the right kind of a plaster if they can make it stick.

Looks like the property owners who oppose the widening of Olive street want to stick to the straight and narrow.

"Milwaukee Bar Owners Can't Use Wives' Names."

Another wallop at life, liberty and the p. of h.

If a wife can use her husband's name why can't a husband use his wife's name?

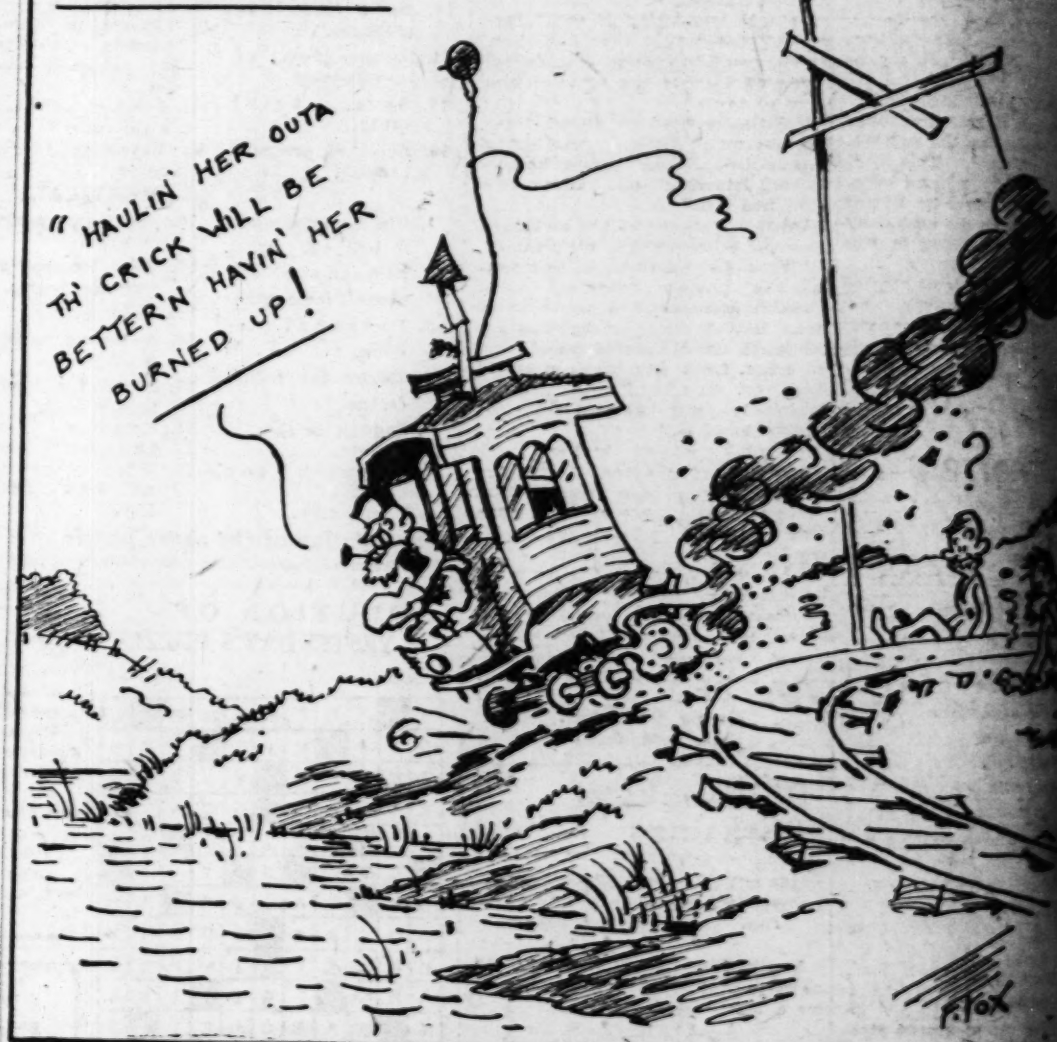

The man on the sandbox says an appropriate nom de guerre for Connie Mack's recruit pitcher who has won five straight games would be "Battleship Gray."

ETLING GETS TWO YEARS FOR ALTERING TAX RECORDS

Former Chief Deputy Assessor Found Guilty by Jury and Sentenced to the Penitentiary.

ASSESSMENT OF TAXPAYER CUT

Witness Testifies He Paid Defendant $60 for Reduction of Levy on His Property.

William P. Etling, former Chief Deputy Assessor, was convicted of altering public records, a form of forgery, by a jury in Circuit Judge Taylor's court this afternoon, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. This is the first conviction growing out of the tax assessment reduction scandal discovered at City Hall late in 1923.

The punishment fixed was the minimum, the possible maximum being seven years. It was largely the word of a taxpayer that Etling accepted a bribe to reduce his tax assessment, against the word of Etling that he did not take it, and never had taken as much as a cigar, in the trial, which began yesterday. The jury accepted the taxpayer's word, seemingly.

Motion for New Trial.

Etling showed signs of surprise when he heard the verdict, which was reached by the jury in less than two hours' deliberation. A motion for a new trial was filed and Etling was released on bond, pending court action on the motion.

Taxpayer's Testimony.

Charles Enger of 3207, Lamedowne avenue is the taxpayer. He testified that he gave Etling $40 at the Assessor's office at City Hall in July, 1923, for reducing the assessment on property of his at 1224 California avenue from $8000 to $2200.

Enger declared he had known Etling for 17 years. Once in 1920, at city hall, he averred, Etling tapped him on the shoulder, and said: "I'll split $5.50 for what I get you off on your tax bill." Enger asserted he paid no attention to that offer, but that when such an offer was repeated in July, 1923, he accepted it. That time, he declared, Etling said to him: "I can make a $125 reduction in your taxes if you give me $40."

Counsel for Etling, cross examining Enger, inquired if Enger had been convicted of selling impure milk, when in the dairy business. Enger denied this and his protestations became extremely heated. "All you were interested in, about your assessment, was in cheating the State, wasn't it?" the defense lawyer asked.

"No, what I was interested in was in keeping Etling from cheating me," the witness retorted. Enger declared that Etling's daughter had visited his home and suggested that he say he didn't know Etling or his superior, former Assessor Enger.

Ruling Bars Testimony.

An effort by the State to introduce testimony of Henry Zeiss of 8419 South Broadway, whose assessment Etling is charged with reducing, also, was prevented by a ruling of the Court.

Former Assessor Buder testified that Etling had no authority to make changes in assessments. Oscar P. Seasinghaus, chief clerk in the Assessor's office, on cross examination, said that the assessment records were open to the public, indicating the possibility that they could be changed by some one not connected with the office. He declared also that clerical errors frequently occur in the work in the office. John H. Gerling, a clerk in the office, testified that the original entry of the Enger assessment was made by him, but not the reduced figure.

Etling's testimony yesterday was almost entirely devoted to a denial that he accepted the $40 or any other sum from Enger or any one else for making an assessment reduction. He asserted he never had accepted any gratuity while in office. Contradicting a statement by Enger, he said he had known Enger for only four years. Etling, who is 44 years old and resides at 824 Dover place, was employed in the Assessor's office for 28 years. A number of character witnesses testified in Etling's behalf, including Vernon R. C. Lacey, attorney and one-time Democratic candidate for Mayor.
